73 Trojan Dedicated to Worthington Senior High School Principal, Mr. Arnold T. Sanderson

Enthusiasm, organization and a drive to do things thoroughly—these are the qualities of our Principal, Mr. Arnold T. Sanderson, that have united and inspired the student today. His leadership has given school life direction and purpose.

On January 15, 1943, Mr. Arnold T. Sanderson became principal of Worthington Senior High School. 5780 seniors later he begins his retirement after the 1972-73 school year. In May 1943, 106 students graduated and in May 1973, 297 will finish their high school career.

Mr. Sanderson came to Worthington in 1934 after teaching in Badger, Minnesota for one year and in Wessington Springs, South Dakota for three years. A Concordia College graduate, Mr. Sanderson was hired to teach Mathematics in senior high. He was also athletic activities director in the junior high.

Coach Sanderson took the junior high basketball team to many area tournaments. In addition to coaching all athletic activities he taught Latin I and II, Economics, Chemistry, Geometry, Physics and others at some time in his career.

Miss Bethel Eshelman was working for a local automobile dealer when she was introduced to the young teacher. They were married in 1935 and are the parents of three children.

Observing that the nature of students hasn't changed too much throughout the years, Mr. Sanderson does feel that they are more open with adults and they develop their talents to a greater degree now.

Mr. Sanderson has made an impact in other areas also. He has served as Executive Secretary to District 8 for the past ten years and served as chairman of the Minnesota high school-college public relations board. He was local Kiwanis President in 1966 and served on the board of First Lutheran Church for eight years.

And so to salute Mr. Arnold Sanderson for more than forty years of public service to students, we dedicate the 1973 Trojan to him. With the dedication goes our sincere thank you for his years in Worthington Senior High School.

RIGHT. Mr. Arnold T. Sanderson has always maintained an open-door policy. A formative and constructive discussion may take place in various surroundings.

BELOW. An ardent golfer, Mr. Arnold T. Sanderson takes on all challengers. Even on the golf course, he is hard to beat.

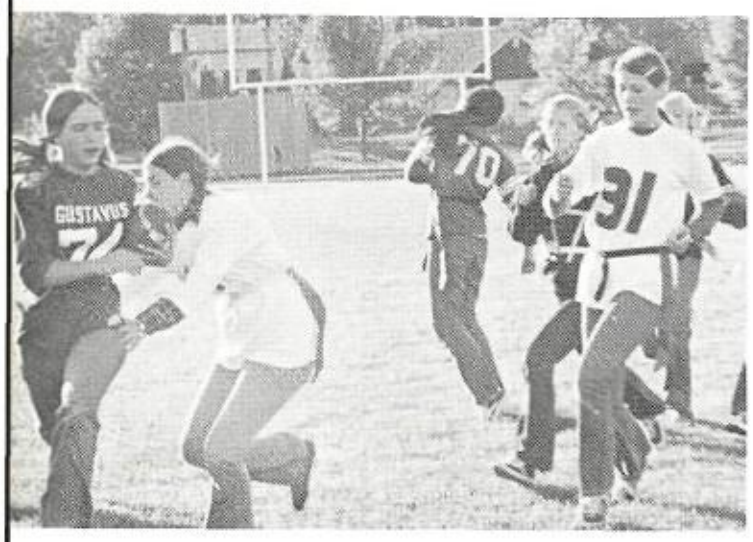
"Get out the vote!" is the cry of the pitter pat of the red, white, and blue tennis shoes that flood the halls of the Senior High.

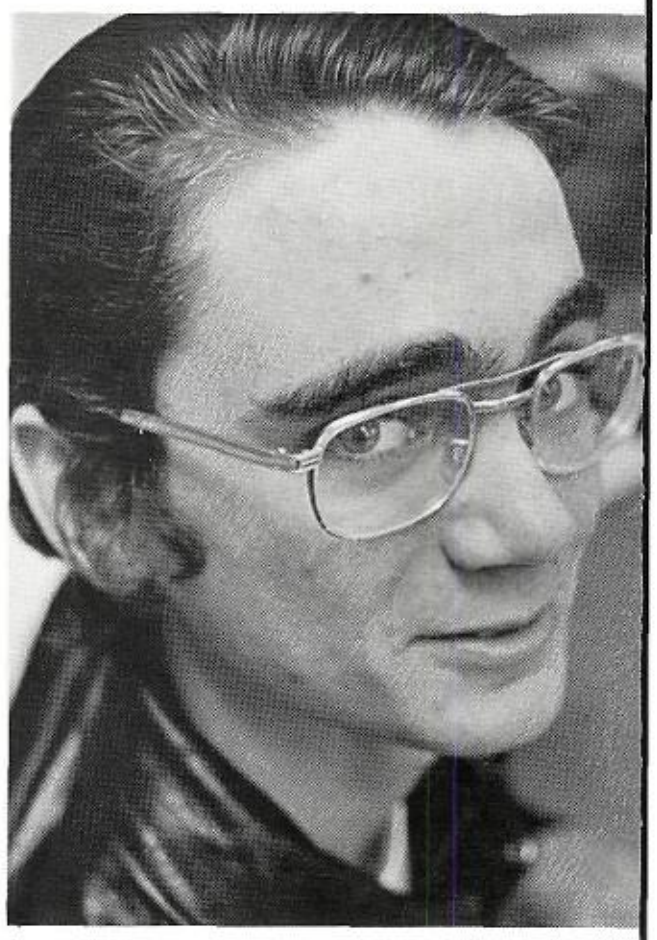


The penetrating defense of the senior girls block Diane Rotschafer behind the line of scrimmage at the "Powder Puff" game.

Spirit Week at Worthington Senior High

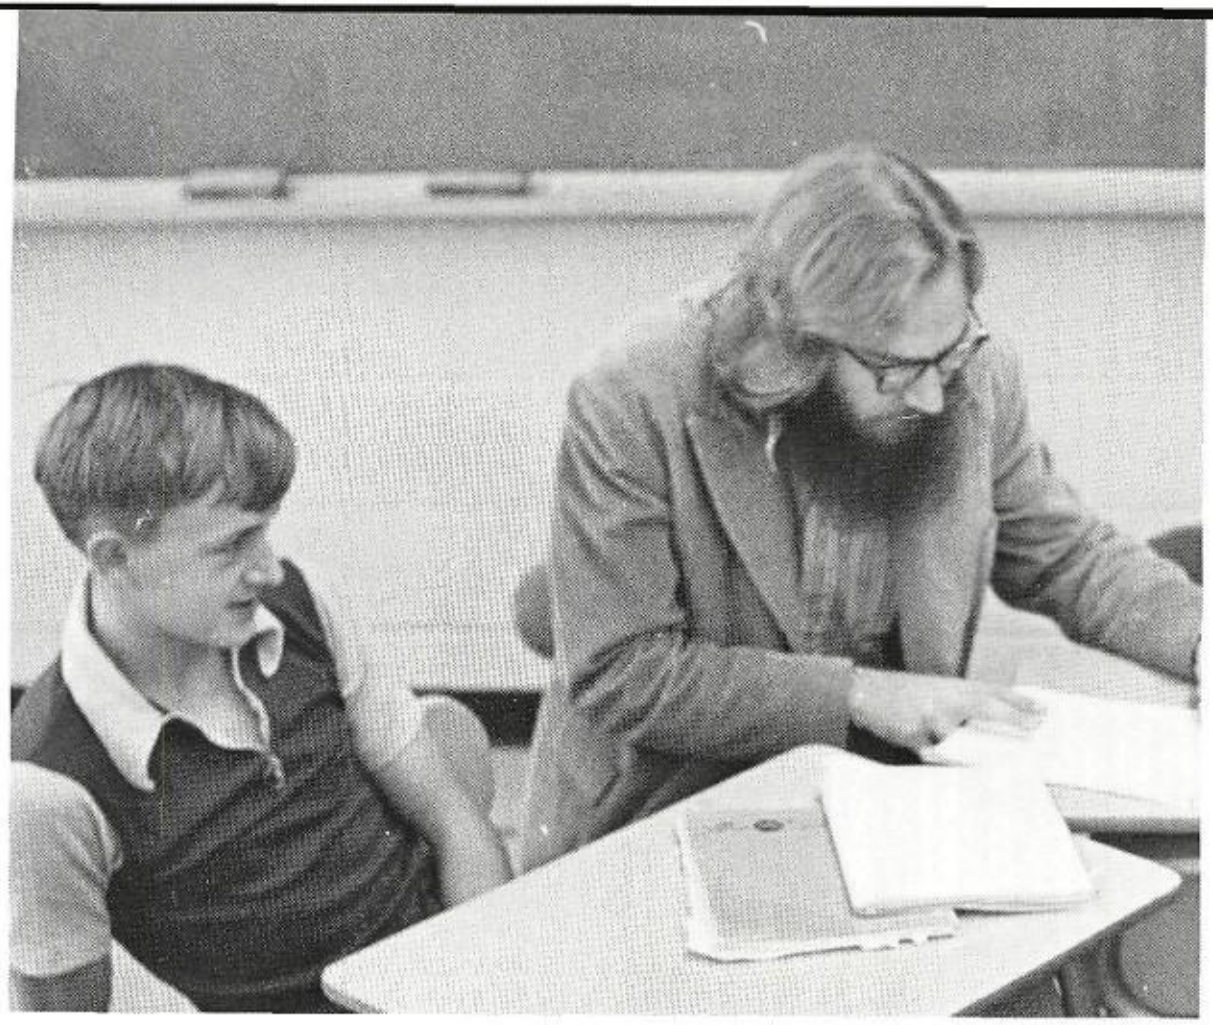
The flames of the bonfire lapped the darkening sky; the resounding chants of the school's cheers led by the energetic cheerleaders, all added favor to Homecoming Week. The crowd of over 300 linked hands and snaked through the streets to the school.

In desperation, Paul Standafer finds a means by which he may elude the rule of no-talking of "Boy - Girl day" during Homecoming week.



"Hey man, the style is like where it's at, nowsvill, C-O-O-L." Fads from way back in the 50's is great for "Greaser Day."

Pop singing groups are listed tops among the lyceum programs. A volunteer attendance at the programs has met with approval by the students.



"All I wanted was a simple answer, like a yes or a no, not a complete psychological view-point," pleads Brian Alberts of his psychology instructor, Mr. David Copperud.

Psychology students soon learn that there is not a simple question, and certainly no simple answers.

Different Happenings That Entertain the WHS Students and Faculty

"Who cares about Adventure of American Literature when one can close their eyes and relive the adventures of last week end?"

The pressures and demands of school and of one's social life often takes their toll at the most unexpected times.

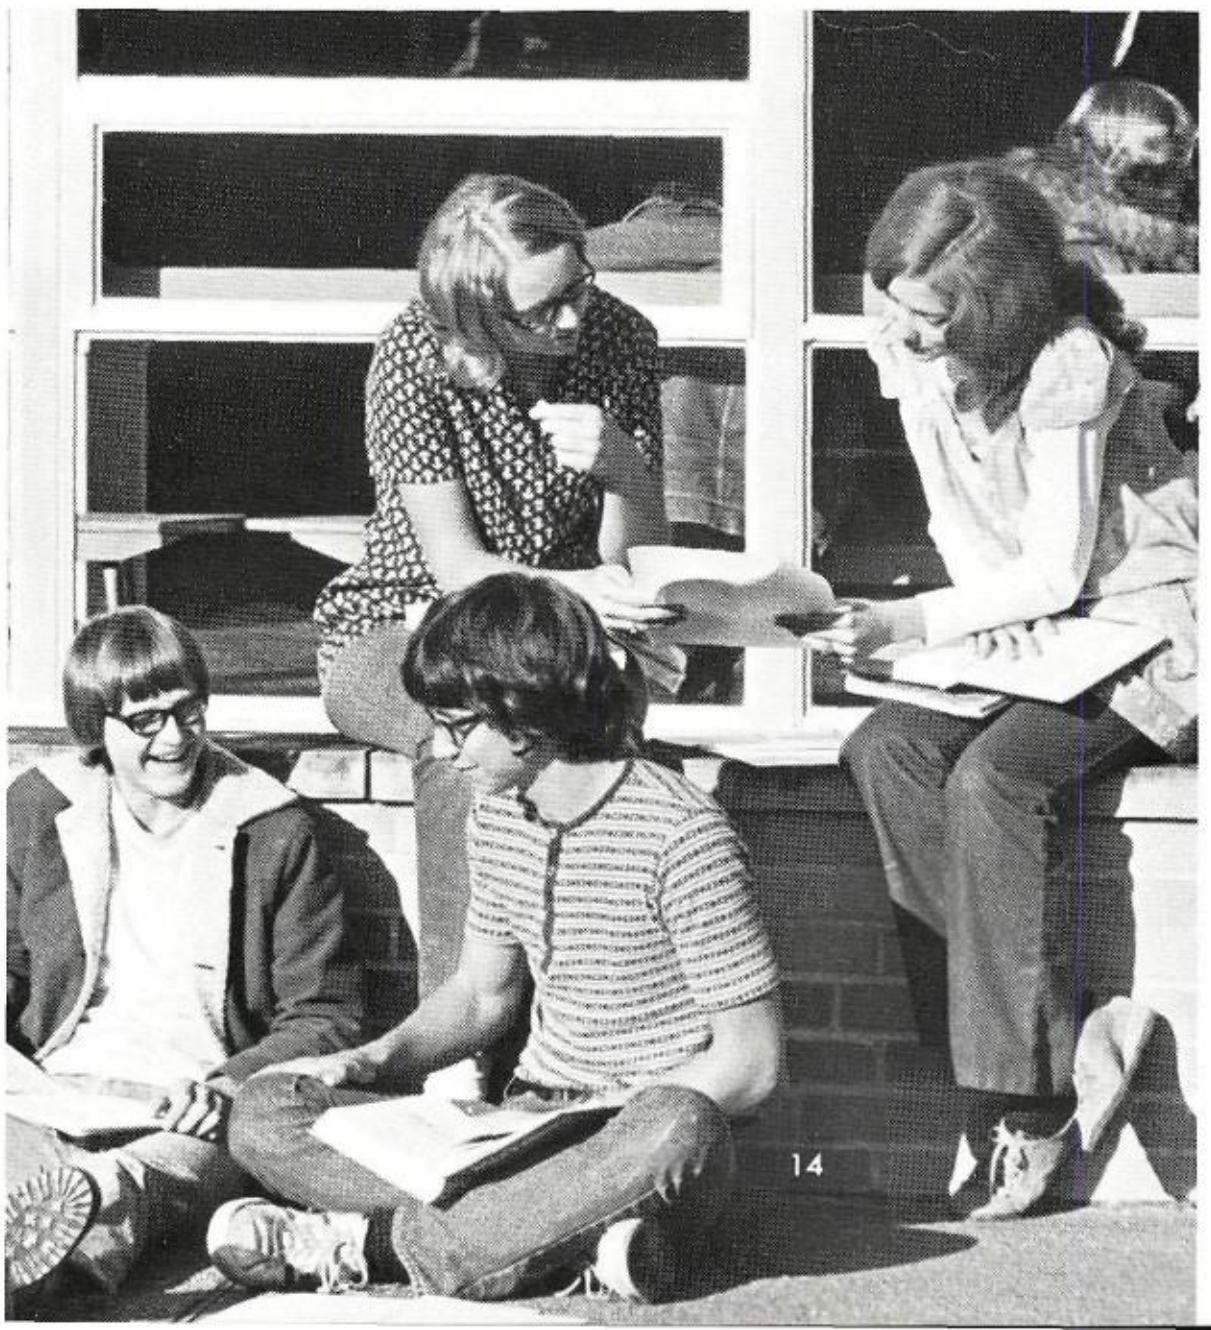
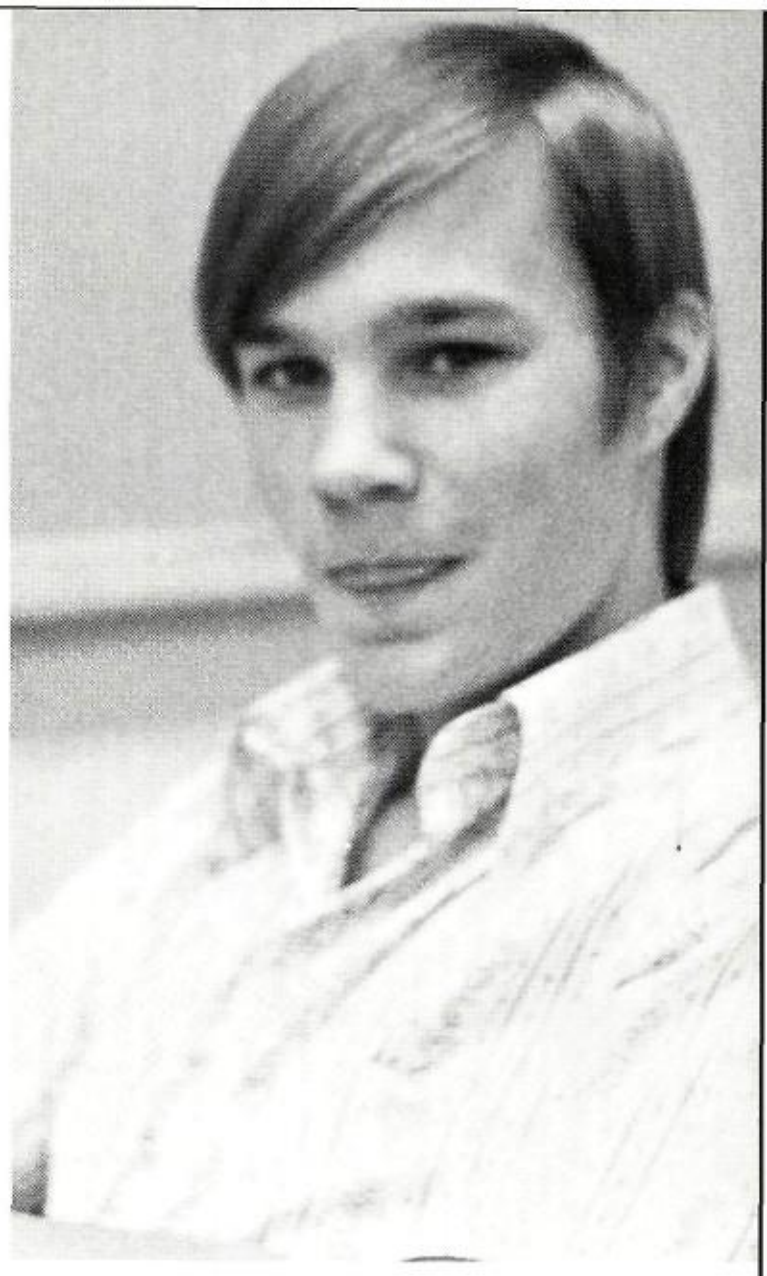
David Schade's "Royal Grub-Day Birthday Outfit" is wanted by his many friends. Although David protested loudly, Casey Ingenthron, Jeff Jerman, and Arnie Wheeler procede the depantsing and to claim the "Royal Grub-Day Birthday Outfit" as their own.

The warm autumn days help to make the Trojan Courtyard an ideal place to study. The antics of Douglas Suss and Mike Gordon are not sufficient to interrupt the serious cramming for quarter examinations of Dawn Lucks and Marcia Lindemann.



Anxious Sophomores listen intently as the "rules" of the annual magazine sales drive are explained. Worn-out shoes, blisters on the feet, and exhausted students resulted as the Sophomores pushed their sales to few dollars under $10,000.



"Buzz off you guys, I've got to have a place to hit the books," exclaims Perry Kallevig, as he tries to meditate on his Shakespeare assignment.

"You are my turtle dove" coos Diane Habbena to greaser day participant Rick Engberg, that fella full of charm and good looks.

One half hour each day is devoted to resource time, when students may seek extra help in a particular subject or do some research. Others make use of the extra time while waiting for their buses to come, by letting their creativety show.

Student Council Represents School Policies and Government in Action

Giving the students an opportunity to participate in today's lawmaking procedures was the Student Council of 1972-73. Under the supervision of Mr. John Devlin, the council met every Thursday morning during homeroom. This time was wisely used to discuss past and future activities and any problems that the homeroom representatives felt needing discussion.

Elected to preside during the year by the student body as officers were: Roger Fellows, president; Mike Patrick, vice president; Deb Bourassa, secretary; and Mark Jepperson, treasurer.

Student Council undertook many worthwhile projects, with the main one being the continuation of the traditional Homecoming festivities. They sponsored Spirit Week, the annual Christmas program, student lyceums, project day, Snow Daze and a ski trip.

Accompanied by Mr. John Devlin, Roger Fellows and Deb Bourassa represented Worthington at the State Student Council Convention in Saint Cloud, Minnesota on November 9, 10, 11, 1972.

Student Council President, Roger Fellows shows his smile of approval over the success of this year's Student Council. Roger was joined in forces by his officers, Mike Patrick, Deb Bourassa, and Mark Jepperson. A frequent visitor to the weekly meetings was Dr. Robert Hoffman.

Community and School Receive Service of the Usherettes Club

A group of senior girls called Usherettes, was established to help the school and community by providing their services.

The Usherettes Club met the first Tuesday of every month, under the supervision of advisor Mrs. Patricia Schulz, and officers President Sue Rogers, Vice President Lois Jacobs, Secretary Shawn Knocke, and Treasurer Juanita Ebbenga.

Events that the girls ushered at were band concerts, Civic Artist series, choir concerts, and travelogues. Some of these events called for formal dress and others were informal as was required.

Foreign Language Clubs Give Students an Improved Understanding of English

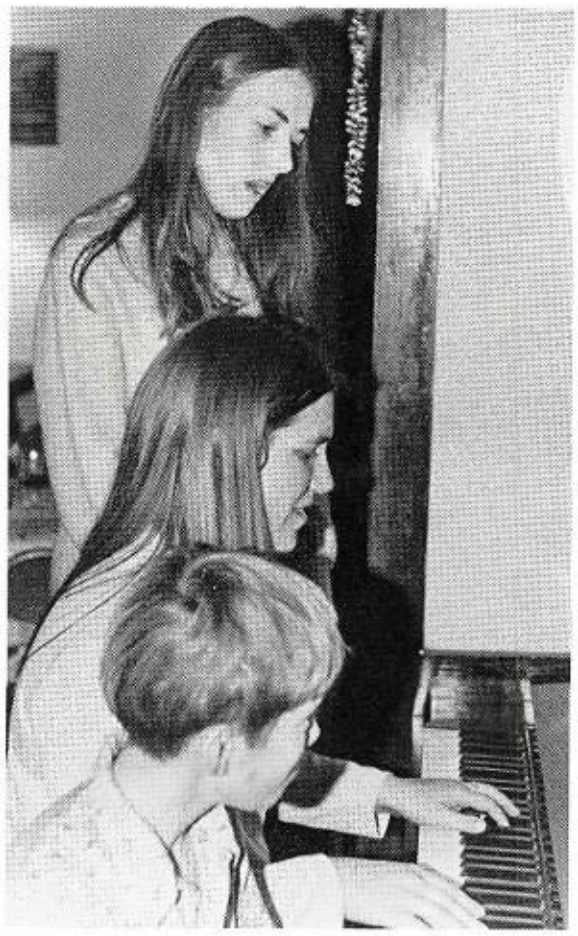
The few, but active members of the French Club, banded together to form an energetic and hard-working group. The club was supervised by Miss Barbara Seeley and officers were: President Jerry Krausser and Secretary-treasurer Carmen Smith.

German Club, advised by Mr. John Evans, provided German students with the opportunity to use the language in an informal situation, and to learn more of the life and customs in Germany. Activities and monthly programs included talks by the exchange students, German games and skits, movies and slides, and the annual German Christmas Party. The officers were: Cathy Hoffman, president; Lori Hammer, vice president; and Linda DeBeer, secretary-treasurer.

"Lockwood, this is PROBE Control. Do you read? Run this for a computer data check and positive I.D." The German Club officers appear to be part of "PROBE Control", but are actually reviewing word lists for quarter tests. Secretary-treasurer Linda DeBeer reads from the book while Vice President Lori Hammer and President Cathy Hoffman listen to tapes.

Nothing says lovin' like something from the oven, and Stacy says it best. Carmen Smith, Barb Johnson and Jerry Kraushar follow their noses to the kitchen just in time to find Stacy Rubsam's specialty emerging from the oven.

Little Tommy Tucker sang for his supper . . . but in this case it is Miss Barbara Seeley and Jerry Kraushar exercising their vocal chords prior to eating. They gather around the piano for a few French verses before sitting down to a glorious feast prepared by Miss Seeley and her club.



Ingrid Konrad enjoys herself during the Holiday season by helping out with the annual baking and decorating of Christmas cookies at the Andy Nielsen home.

Crailsheim-WHS Exchange Promotes Foreign Relations

Craig Behrens and Gaby Frank smile for a photographer after stepping off of the train that carried them many miles to Crailsheim. It is obvious Gaby is glad to be home and Craig happy to represent Worthington's finest in exchange material.

The Crailsheim Exchange Program was established by Worthington-Crailsheim International, the communities international relations organization. This exchang was started as an attempt to further better relations between two cities thus furthering German-American relations. The program started in 1946 with a Crailsheim visitor in Worthington and in 1956 Worthington returned the visit. It began on a once every four-year basis, then alternate years, and now students exchange every year. This year blonde, petite gymnast, Ingrid Konrad was our visitor while Craig Behrens became WHS's ambassador to our sister city. A gift of six hand made German costumes was sent from Crailsheim in time for the Turkey Day festivities celebrating the 25th anniversary as our sister city.

"Just a simple revolution, continue into a V-sit, finish with a handstand and flying vault . . ." mutters Ingrid Konrad, as she concentrates on perfecting her routine on the uneven parallel bars for the annual Christmas program. Ingrid, this year's exchange student from Germany, is an active and competitive member of WHS's gymnastics team. Gymnastics and ice-skating are her favorite sports with the unevens her best area in competition.

From her perch on top of the Crailsheim float, Ingrid Konrad recognizes some of her new found friends in the crowd that line the streets for Turkey Day. The Dwaine Rosenbrook family is wearing six hand made costumes sent from Crailsheim celebrating the 25th anniversary as our sister city.

The choir section leaders prove that singing isn't the only talent they possess. The Mighty Seniors are: BOTTOM ROW: Marty Rickers, Robin Hanson, Mary Soderholm, SECOND ROW: Todd Lowry, Tom DeWitt, Margaret Tims. TOP: Ingrid Bellows. They should be able to do it after three years of practice!

As the school year began, Worthington Senior High found itself with two mixed choirs for the first time in its history. The 65-voice Choir 1, composed of juniors and seniors met daily during 2nd hour and the 58-voice Choir II, composed mostly of sophomores, with a sprinkling of juniors and seniors, met during 7th hour.

The first activity of the year for the choirs was the Southwest Minnesota Choral Festival held in Worthington on November 4. Six area schools united in song under the direction of Dr. Paul Brandvik of Bemidji State College. The Christmas Concert, under the theme, "Watchman, Tell Us Of The Night", was presented on December 10 and again provided the community with a festive introduction to the holiday season.

The choir represented Worthington in the District 8 Solo and Ensemble Contest at Luverne and the Region 2 Solo and Ensemble Contest at Worthington. The choirs upheld their tradition of highrating in the District Large Group Contest.

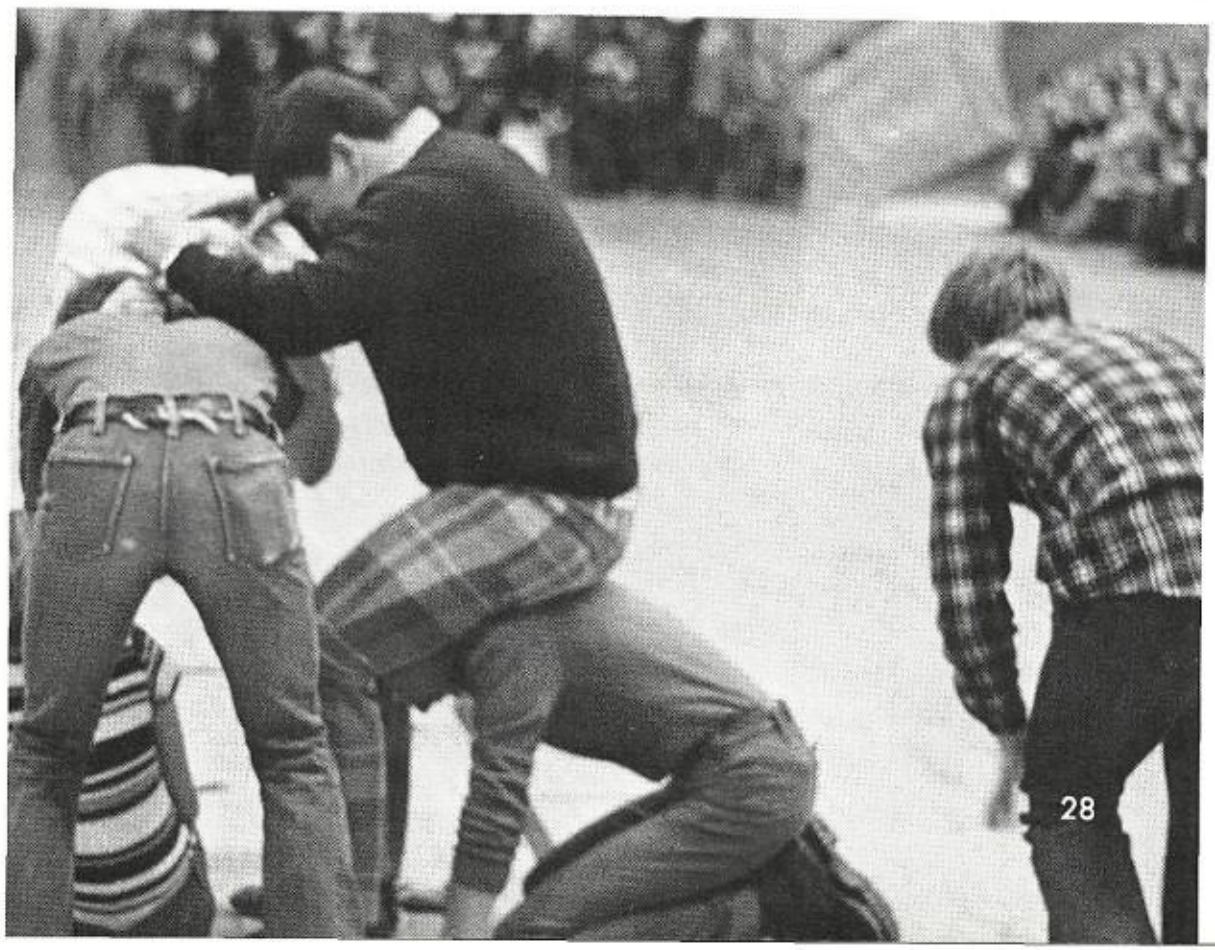
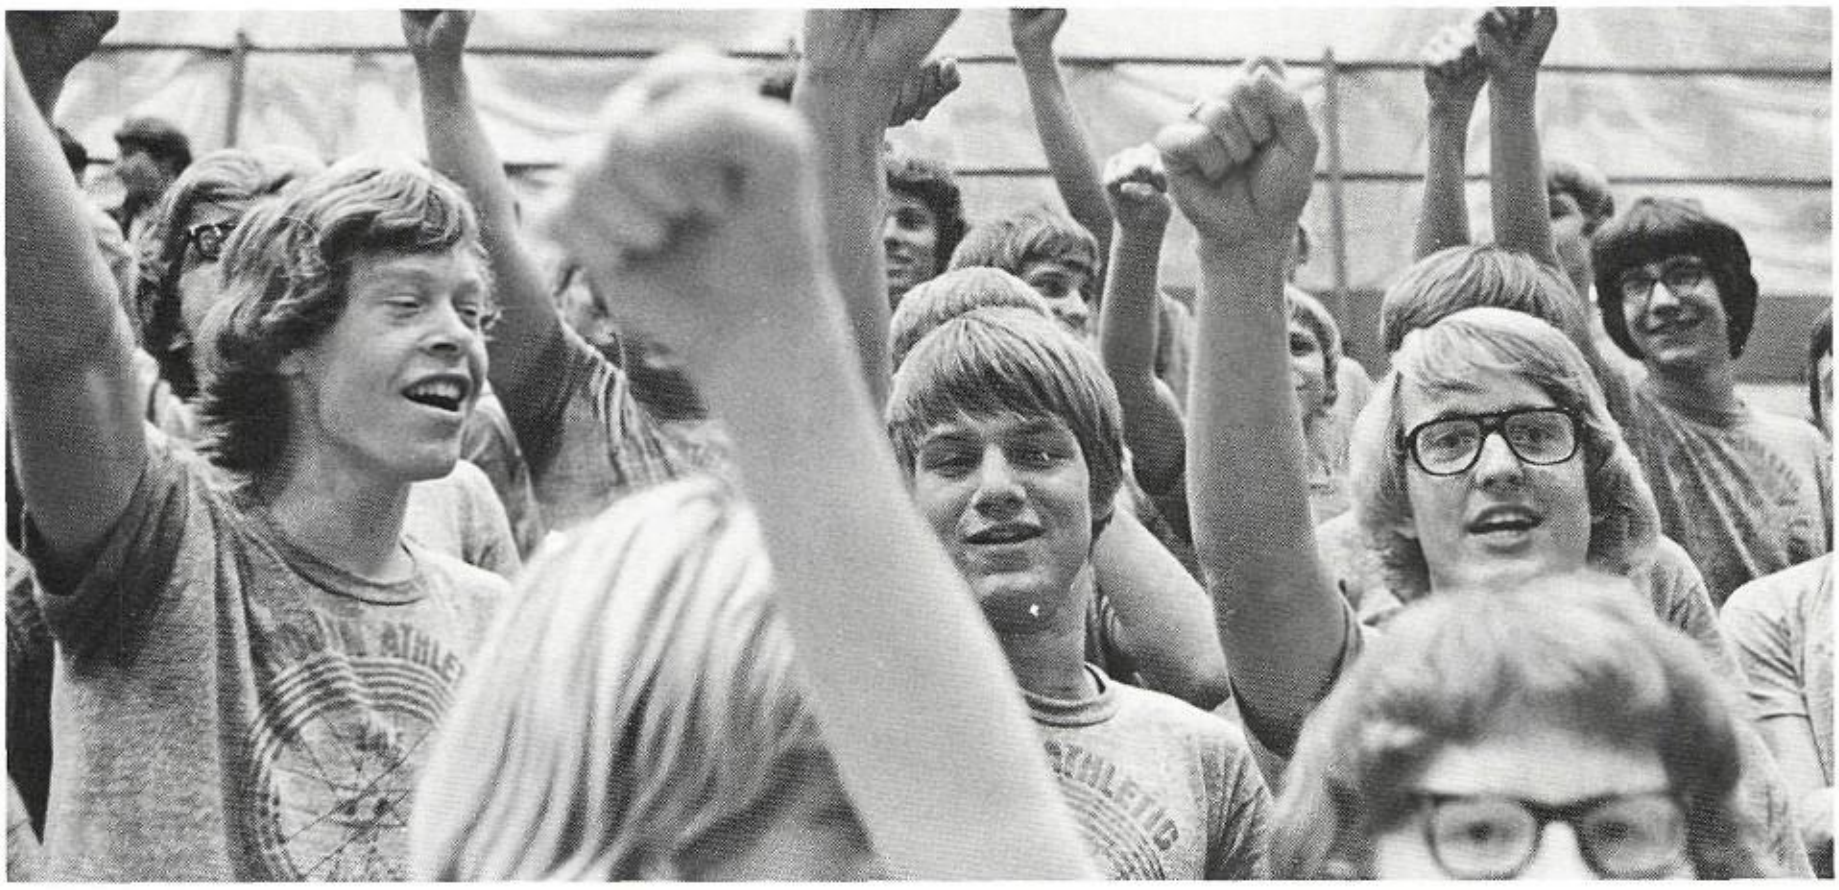
LEFT: "My child, my child ..." cries grandmother, (Jeff Goor) during a Trojanaire and Trojanette pep skit. Before the melodrama was over, these future "Shakesperians" had the audience rolling in the aisles.

BELOW: Trojanaire Joel Krekelberg hams it up in Chemistry class during Grub Day. The best part of Spirit Week is coming to school and watching such "outfits" pass by in the hall.





The mighty Trojanaires show their school spirit by trying to out shout the Trojanettes during a pep meet. Members of both clubs participated in many other contest such as a rope pull which ended in a tie because of a faulty rope and a nylon race which was also a tie.

We're Number One Is the Battle Cry of the Pep Clubs.

Trojanettes, the girls pep club, and Trojanaires, the boys pep club, were involved in various activities to incite school spirit.

The Trojanettes painted signs and hung them in the gym. Both clubs prepared and gave pep skits at pep meetings and sat as a group at games to support the cheerleaders and the teams.

The Trojanettes biggest project this year was selling poster stationery While the Trojanaires bought jock shirts.

The leaders of the Trojanettes are Michelle Habeck, President; Sue Rogers, Vice-President-Secretary; Sheila Lewis and Cindy Boddy, signs; and Jo Plucker and Diane Habbena, skits.

When all the searching, writing, rewriting, typing and laying out is finished, the staff will have produced one of the most superior yearbooks of all times.

Working Late Again . . . Missing the Basketball Game . . . Another Cancelled Picture Appointment . . . the Sacrafice of Precious Time

With a series of four deadlines and forty pages due to the publisher each month, the clock ticked steadily on toward the date of January 15 as the TROJAN staff strived to meet their last deadline. The members fought through an onslaught of pictures, copy, captions, headlines and layouts to create the 1972-73 TROJAN; survived the wrath of irate editors and disgrunted advisors; and at long last completed the 1973 yearbook.

Staff members attended two workshops to help in the formulation of the yearbook. American Yearbook Company held a workshop at the Worthington State Junior College, and another workshop, sponsered by the Minnesota High School Press Association on the campus of the University of Minnesota, was attended by most of the staff.

Annual staff members were divided into five sections and were responsible for those sections until completion; Student Life, Organizations, Sports, Administration and Classes.

The staff, which consisted of sixteen green and inexperienced students, was headed by Julie Reisdorfer, editor; Marcia Opsata, assistant editor; and Mr. Herb Pederson, advisor. Of all the students on the staff, only one was a veteran, but they did not let this be a handicap. The staff plunged head on into the difficult task of learning how to compile a worth while yearbook that depicted the true breathing spirit of WHS, and came up with what they are proud to call the 1972 TROJAN.

The Trojan debaters hosted a tournament on January 5 and 6, which consisted of teams from five states. They also hosted the Regional Debate Tournament on February 3.

The Declam season began with the month of March. The team attended eight tournaments, and also hosted a tournament on March 10.

The results of this drive was distributed among three institutions; the local Lakeview Crippled Children's School, The Achievement Center of Worthington, and Camp Courage of Annandale, Minnesota.

Future Teachers of America was a club devised to give experience to those students who believe that they have a future in teaching. Members were assigned to a school and given the opportunity to observe and participate in classroom activities, receiving first hand experience in the knowledge of teaching.

Members raised funds by having bake sales, working in concession stands during noon hour and at atheletic events.

Mrs. Rosemary Heineke advised the club. Officers were Kathy Stubbe, president; John Glebevicius, vice president; Cindy Lieser, secretary; Therese McCoy, treasurer and Chris Glebevicius, historian.

The Future Homemakers of America Club was established to promote an appreciation of jobs and satisfaction of homemaking.

Aiding our senior citizens living in the Atrium High Rise brought great satisfaction to the FHA members. Combing and setting hair, dusting, vacuuming rugs, airing curtains, re-arranging furniture, general house work and "small" talk closed the generation gap. The FHA girls carved and served a Christmas turkey dinner to more than 125 of the High Rise residents.

Members attended different district and state conventions in Minneapolis during the fall and spring.

Mrs. Marilyn Miller was advisor of the club and the members were led by President Sherry Lindemann, Vice President Althia Posey, Secretary Lorraine McAtee, Treasurer Theresa Slater, Historian Terry Mess and Parlementarian Ann Guthmiller.

Key Club officers are: Lieutenant Governor Todd Lowry, admiring his spiffy bell bottoms; Secretary Guy Stromquist; Vice President Chuck Fauskee, ready to take over the top spot at a moment's notice; President Mark Evensen, holding the official "bonking" gavel; and Treasurer Marty Rickers, holding the total sums of the club.

"Hey fellas, what do you think this funny-looking gadget is for?" Some of the Key Club members listen attentively to the description of the safety equipment on the truck, and others have some fun doing a little unobserved experimenting. All senior high boys are eligible for membership in the Key Club.

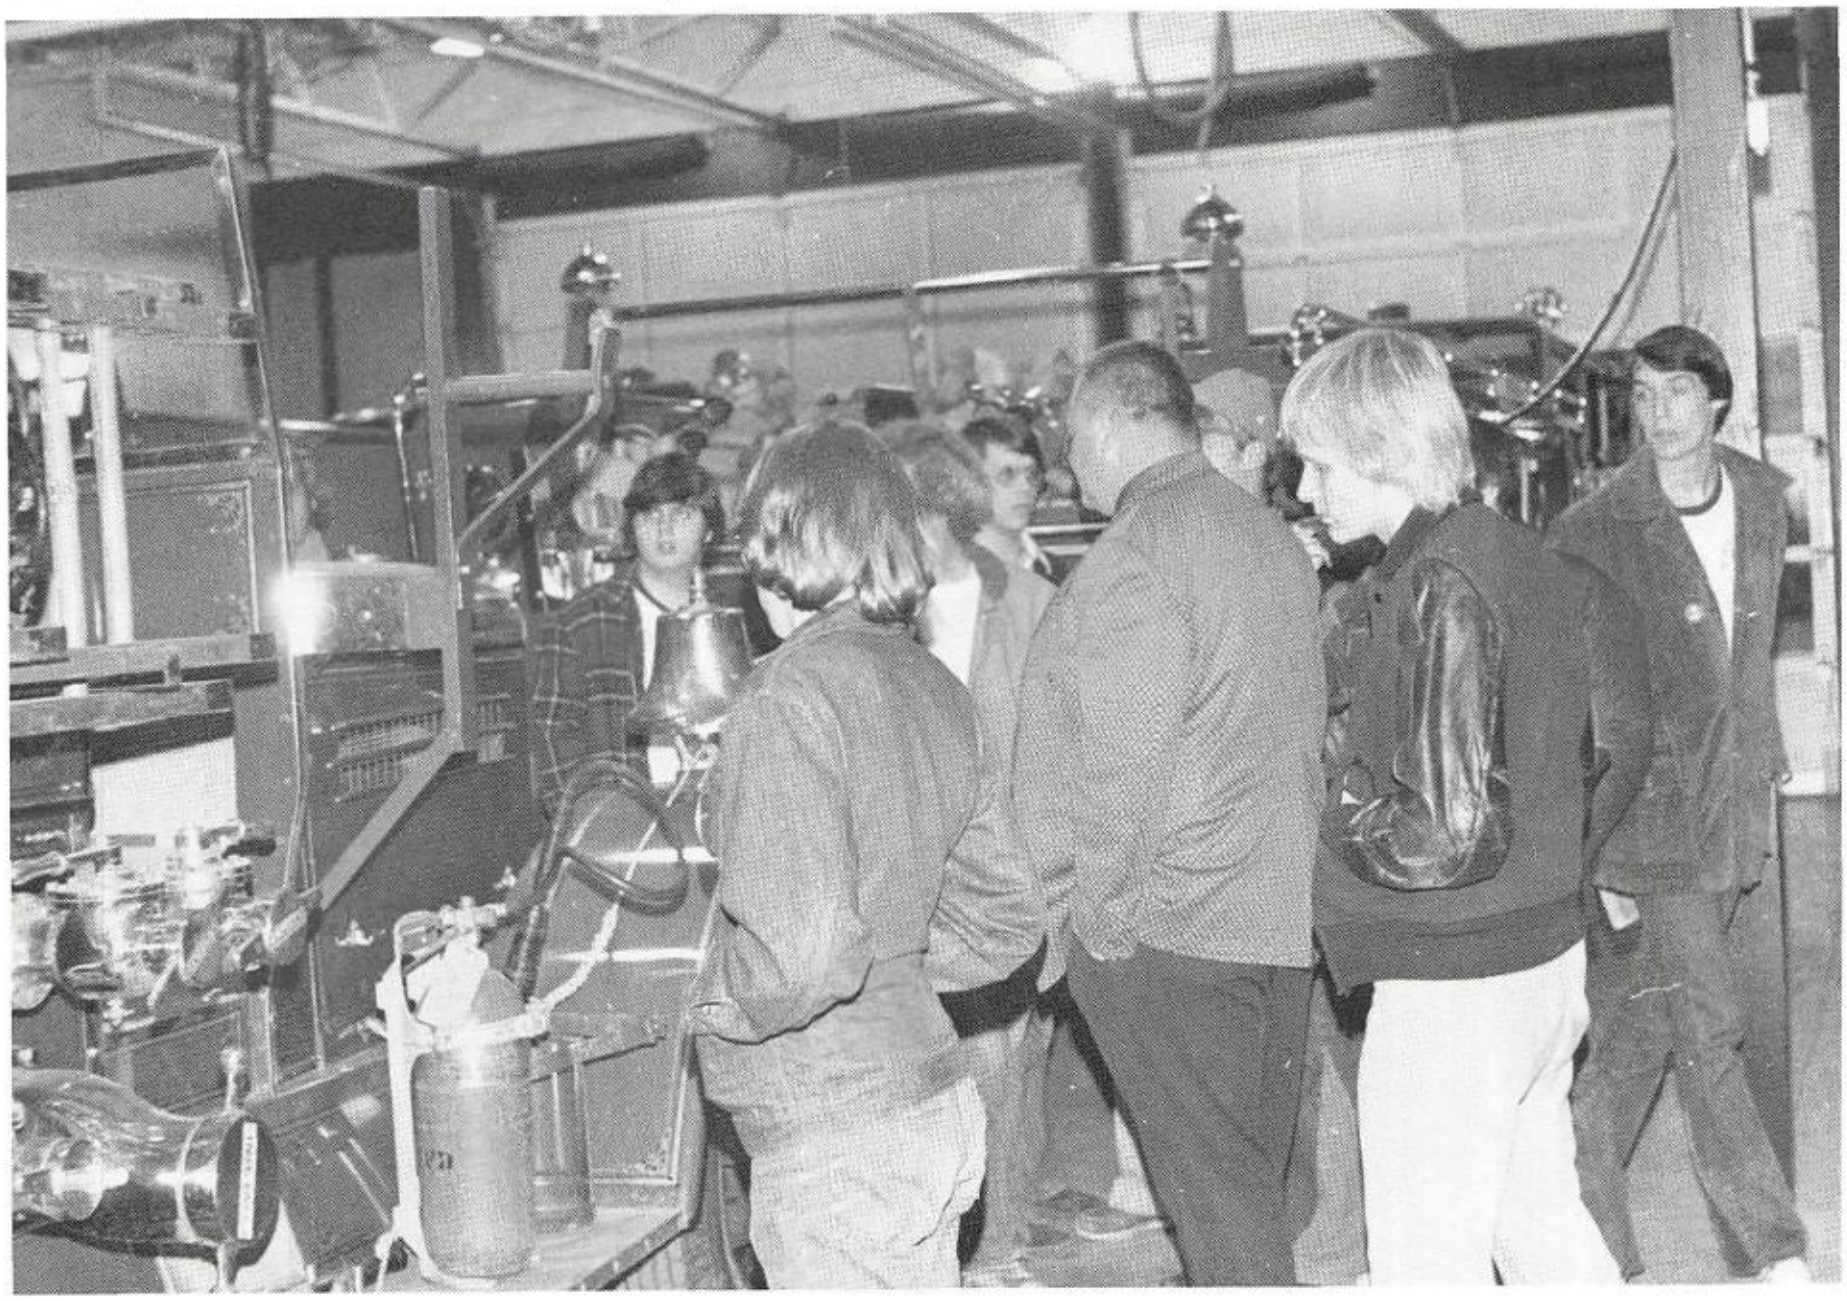
Local Key Club Offer Services to the Community

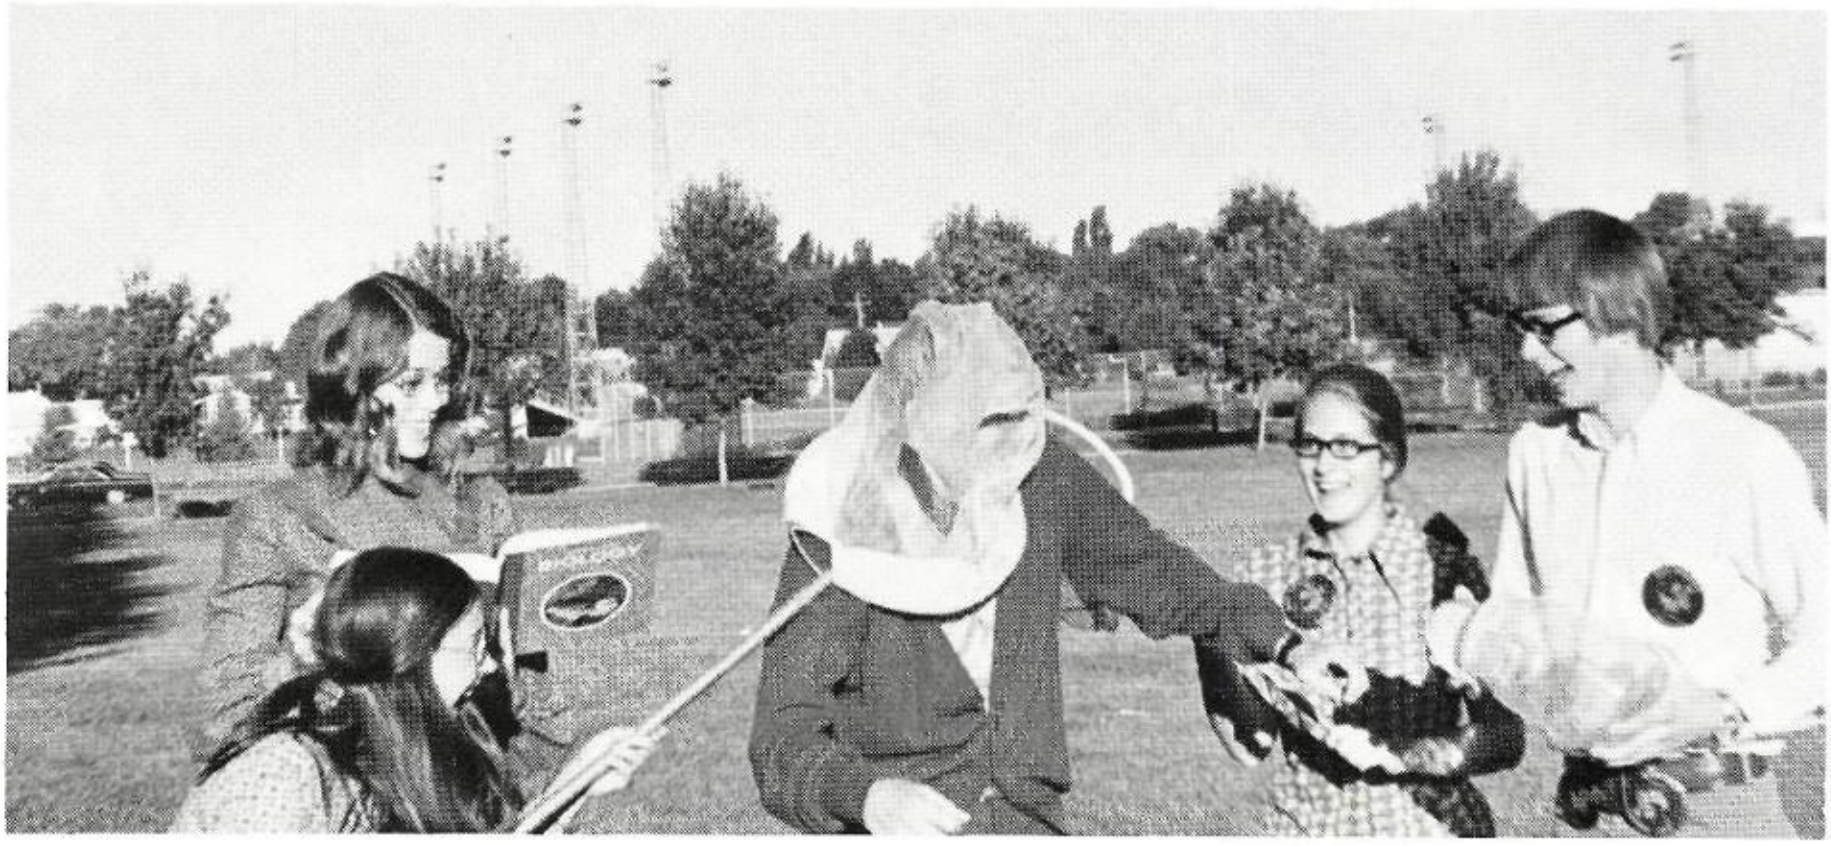
The Key Club, advised by Mr. Alan Swanson, was sponsered by the Early Risers Kiwanis Club. All Senior High boys were eligible for membership in the service club.

A trip was taken to the Fire Hall where rescue and fire equipment was observed and discussed; the high school students provided transportation for all people who couldn't reach the voting poles; a Christmas shopping spree was sponsered by the Key Club for the Crippled Children and the energetic group also went door-to-door around the community selling popcorn.

Club meetings were held once a week on Wednesday nights at six o'clock. At this time, various service projects were discussed and evaluated.

Officers were: Mark Evensen, president; Chuck Fauskee, vice president; Guy Stromquist, secretary; Marty Rickers, treasurer; Todd Lowry, lieutenant governor.





"Got 'cha! Now what is it?", questions the Biology Club officers, President Kathy Langseth; Secretary Barbara Clauson; Program Chairman Julie Reisdorfer; and Vice-President Guy Stromquist. The species netted, classified and ready to be popped into the killing jar, is the rare Leotis Petersonaphthalene, a deadly killer of all science minds. Mr. Leo Peterson is the Biology Club advisor.

Creativity and Discovery: The Basic Elements of Art and Biology Clubs

If a person is stimulated by the aroma of formeldahyde, enjoys dissecting frogs, has the stamina to descend Dinasour Ridge after consuming twenty-five grilled hotdogs and thirteen gallons of lemonade, then Biology Club is IT.

Those were just a few of the high lights that this year's energetic and courageous Biology Club members encountered.

Under the fearless leadership of Mr. Leo Peterson, the club met once a month on Thursday night or on prearranged dates. Officers chosen by the club members to preside during the year were: Kathy Langseth, president; Guy Stromquist, vice president; Barb Clauson, secretary; and Julie Reisdorfer, program chairman.

Biology Club tried to bring together students with similar interests and desires to continue their studies in the many different fields of science.

The talent and skills of the Aristocrats Club was present through out the school year. The club provided students with the opportunity to pursue the various aspects of art.

Members of the club met on many occasions during homerooms to talk over money-making or money-spending ideas. One Wednesday night a month was used to work on group or personal projects.

The club was headed by the committee for 1972-73: Mark Jepperson, Kathy Wass, and Paula Hinds. Mr. Harold Schulz advised them.

The telephone was ringing, three absence slips had to be filled out, and Mr. Iscensee wanted a sophomore's schedule checked out. This was the beginning of a busy day for Miss Gloria Erickson and her office girls.

Many hours were spent signing absence slips, recording hourly reports, and acting as receptionists for visitors.

Under the supervision of Mr. Dwayne Honnerman, assistant librarians worked during their free periods performing various duties such as: filing books, magazines, and cards: typing, arranging shelves, and checking books in and out of the library.

"You've got to be kidding. Tell me the REAL reason why you were absent yesterday", questions secretary Miss Gloria Erickson.

"Mercy, mercy, mercy", groans Mr. Glenn Evensen. "Someone in the Saxaphone section is out of tune." The Trojan Swing Band entertains a large crowd at the Worthington Pipestone wrestling meet. The music is as good as the wrestling, for Worthington breaks the Arrows with their little fingers.

"Eight steps to five yards" was the slogan, continuing a time-honored tradition for the fearless and hard-working members of the Trojan Senior High Band for 1972-73. (And the new Sophomores received the customary baptism-under-fire if they somehow managed to end up on seven or nine steps-to-five.) And by Homecoming, all 96 people in the Football Marching Band could regulate their forward progress the entire length of the field, then to-the-rear march to the center of the field, and dazzle the fans with "floating diamonds", another tradition.

Striving for musical excellence became an apparent goal, even while still in the marching band season when the Band represented the school and community in the Turkey Day Parade in Worthington; the Jackson Races Day; Edgerton Dutch Festival; Luverne Tri-State Parade; and the Augustana College Viking Days Parade in Sioux Falls. Jeff Sellberg adequately performed the honors of being the Marching Band "Trojan" in a very convincing style. (Many little kids dropped their ice cream cones and went crying to their mothers...)

Notable events were : winning a first place trophy at the Jackson Day Parade, receiving telegrams and phone calls upon being invited to participate in the Youth and Music Festival in Vienna, Austria, In July, 1973. (Ted Kempema couldn't figure how to get four student buses over there and not get high-jacked...), being chosen as the WCCO "Prep Parade" Band of the Week and Band of the Year, the first band of the 1972 Football season.

Officers for this year: President Todd Lowry, Vice President Ingrid Bellows, Senior Representative Sue Nielsen, Junior Representative Arnie Wheeler, Sophomore Representative Craig Bomgaars.

The Pep Band provided music for the basketball season, and the "Sophistocats" Swing Band played for various home wrestling meets; for the local Kiwanis 50th Anniversary banquet; Buyssee Motors new automobile showing for 1973 models; and received invitations to paricipate in stage band clinics in a four state area.

There's More to Music Than Meets the Ear- Worthington High IS WCCO's Great "Band of the Year"

"Yuk, what's this green stuff on my baton?" questions Band Master Glenn K. Evensen. Many excellent half time shows are put on by the band, twirlers, and flag squad under the direction of Mr. Evensen, but the long hours of practice paid off. For the fourth time in our school's history, the Trojan Band won WCCO's "Band of the Year" award, a highly honored recognition.

The goal of Health Careers Club was to present an over-all view of different fields in medicine and health. The club, advised by the school nurse Mrs. Ladonna Bergeson, was under the leadership of President Kathy Langseth, Vice President Guy Stromquist, and Secretary Cyndi Lieser.

VICA, Vocational Industrial Clubs of America, was conceived by the introduction of two cooperative programs in the Home Economics Department. Students enrolled in the Foods Occupation class and the Health Occupations class were members of the club.

Officers for the Health Occupation divison of VICA were: Sue Rogers, president; Rita Rose, vice president; Sherry Lindemann, secretary; Dick Goodmanson, treasurer; Kathy Baumsartner, historian; and Pam Decker, parlimentarian.

Two Day Photo Work Shop Indoctrinates Dark Room Facilities

On September 12, 1972, the local school board approved the construction of, and the equiping of a new dark room facility to be located in the basement of the Administration Building.

The carpenters, electricians, and plumbers went to work in full force and soon the facilities were ready for the W-Hi-Star Staff, the Annual Staff, and the Camera Club.

A new enlarger added to the existing two provided additional personnel to be working at once. A rotary washer, dryer, and temperature control added to the splendor of the facility. A ten foot fiberglass sink in the printing room insured working space for a number of students at one time. The developing room included a six foot fiberglass sink.

The Camera Club is advised by Mr. Herbert E. Pederson. Tom Wallace was president and Dean Hanson, vice-president.

Knights, Castles Kings and Queens Invade the High School Classroom

"BxB; QxB, Kt7ch wins a Pawn Down . . . QxQ? allowing the Knight fork 14 RtxBch which wins." Is it a secret formula to conquer the world? No, it's a typical chess movement that might appear in Room 215 every Wednesday morning during homeroom. The club is new to the list of organizations but it's off to a good start with President George Kadinger, Vice President Tim Christenson, and advisor James Gay as leaders. No longer is it unusual to walk into a room and hear something like, "Pawn to Queen's 4". Or if a person is lucky and happens to be around when the kill is in progress, the most victorious of all chess words will sound out, "Checkmate". No one seems to know where the sudden interest came from for the internationally played game. (?) Could it be that it all started in a tiny town on the island of Iceland??!! Our boys might not be Bobby Fischer's but they sure try!

George Kadinger carefully watches and analyses the move being made by his opponent. Positions are taken by many students who "go at it" all hours of the day in the hall and classroom. Chess is a game of logic and critical analysis. (Too bad there isn't a Mr. Spock around to give a few pointers!)

In the opening playes, Leroy Kuhl strategically moves his Bishop to ware off possible attacks from Francis Riley. But Francis is three moves ahead of him, and has "it" all figured out! Look out Leroy!

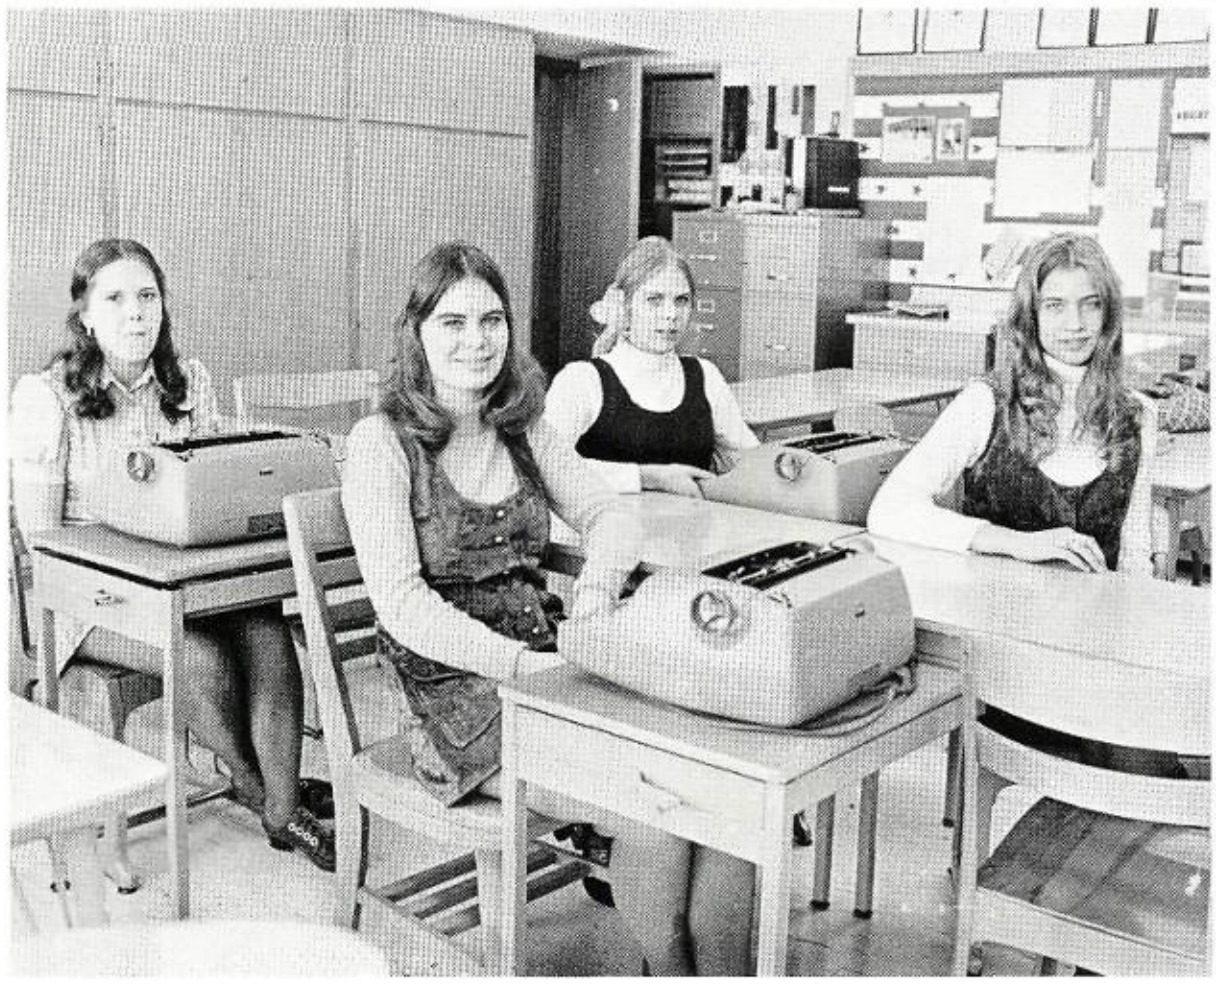
DE and O.E. Provides Students With on-the Job Training Experience

The Distributive Education Chapter of America and Office Education Chapter of America have a very common purpose; to give students a chance to find out what the business world is like. DECA is associated with Distributive Education classes while OEA is associated with Office Education classes.

A source of funds for DECA was selling calenders and candy bars, and sponsering a clothing drive for the 6th year. OEA earned their money by diligently selling Peanut Crunch and Chocolate Bars. DECA used the money to attend the District, State, and National Leadership Conferance, while OEA used their money to attend the State, National, and Fall Leadership Conferance.

Local officers for DECA were; Beth Bauman, Sharla Taarud, Jan Johnson, Deb Bode, Judy Geiser, LuAnn Timmerman, Denise Hanten and Sharon Carlberg.

Officers for OEA were; Pam Meinders, Bev Wassenaar, Juanita Ebbenga, and Lois Jacobs.



Ready for any task are the Office Education Officers: Pamela Meinders, Parlimentarian; Beverly Wassenaar, Secretary; Juanita Ebbenga, Vice-President; Lois Jacobs, President; and NOT PICTURED, Lorraine McAtte, Treasurer. Mr. David Haugen advised the Chapter.

Planning the Distributive Education Chapter meetings and carrying out the goals of the organization is the responsibilities of the officers: Sharon Carlberg, Secretary; Denise Hanten, Historian; Jan Johnson, Historian; Sharla Taarud, Treasurer and District Historian; Beth Bauman, President; Debra Bode, Vice-Presdient; Judy Geiser, Parlimentarian; and LuAnn Timmermann, Historian.

Checking the files to verify the accuracy of a tax return is a portion of the responsibilies of Lorraine McAtte's job at the accounting firm of Windschill and Kellen.

"Here's a beautiful garment," sighs Deb Bode. An occupational hazzard of working in a ladies ready to wear shop is that you cannot resist the temptation to buy, and buy, and buy. Deb Bode is employed at Habicht's Ladies Appearl as a salesclerk.

Typing bulletins, running off stencils, answering the telephone and a public relation committee of one for teachers and students, occupies the greater share of Margie Janssen's hours while on-the-job in the High School Principal's office.

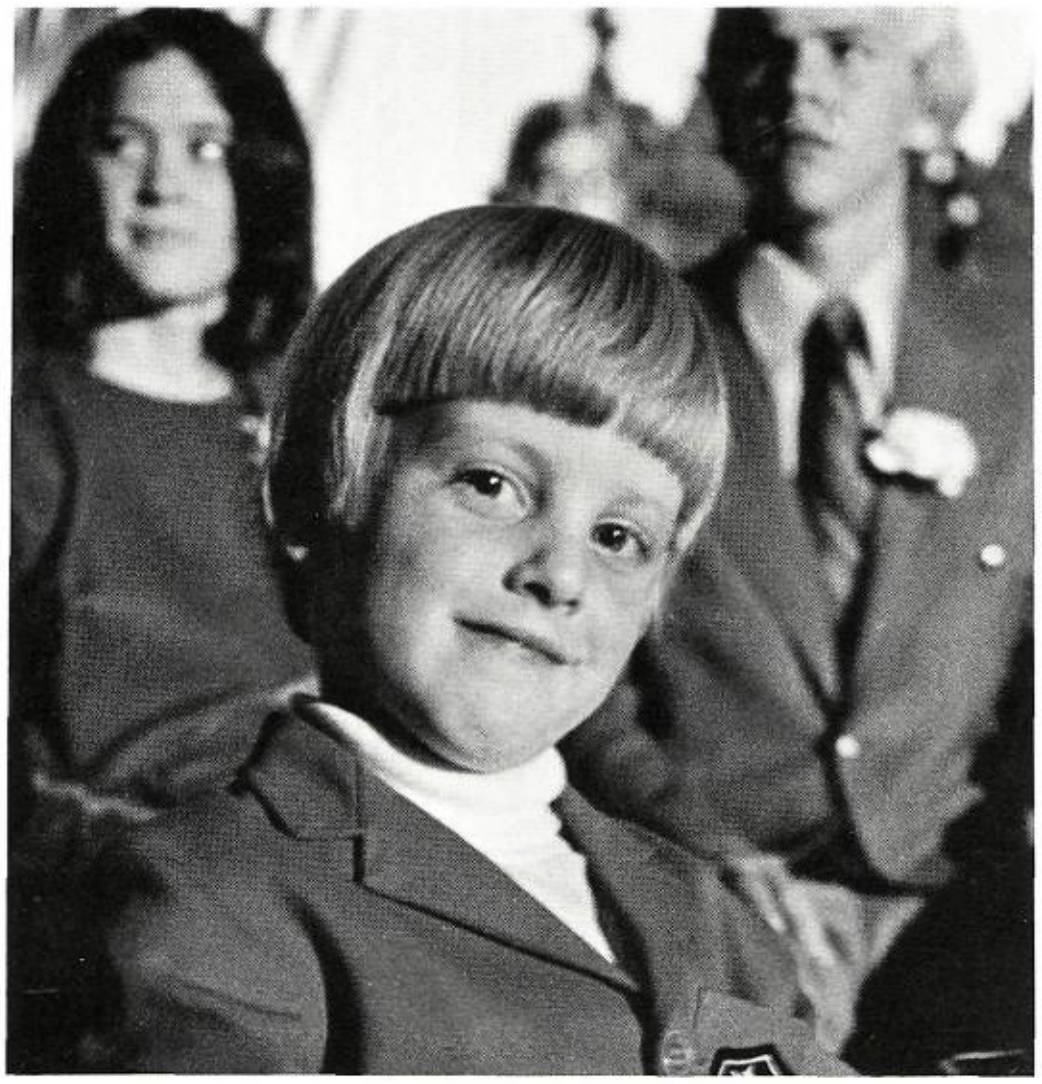
The Homecoming Royalty candidates anxiously await the final moment when Coach Kenneth Droegemueller will crown one couple King and Queen.

Jon Krekelberg and Debbie Luing, the 1972 Homecoming Crown Bearers Add Sparkle to the Coronation Ceremony.

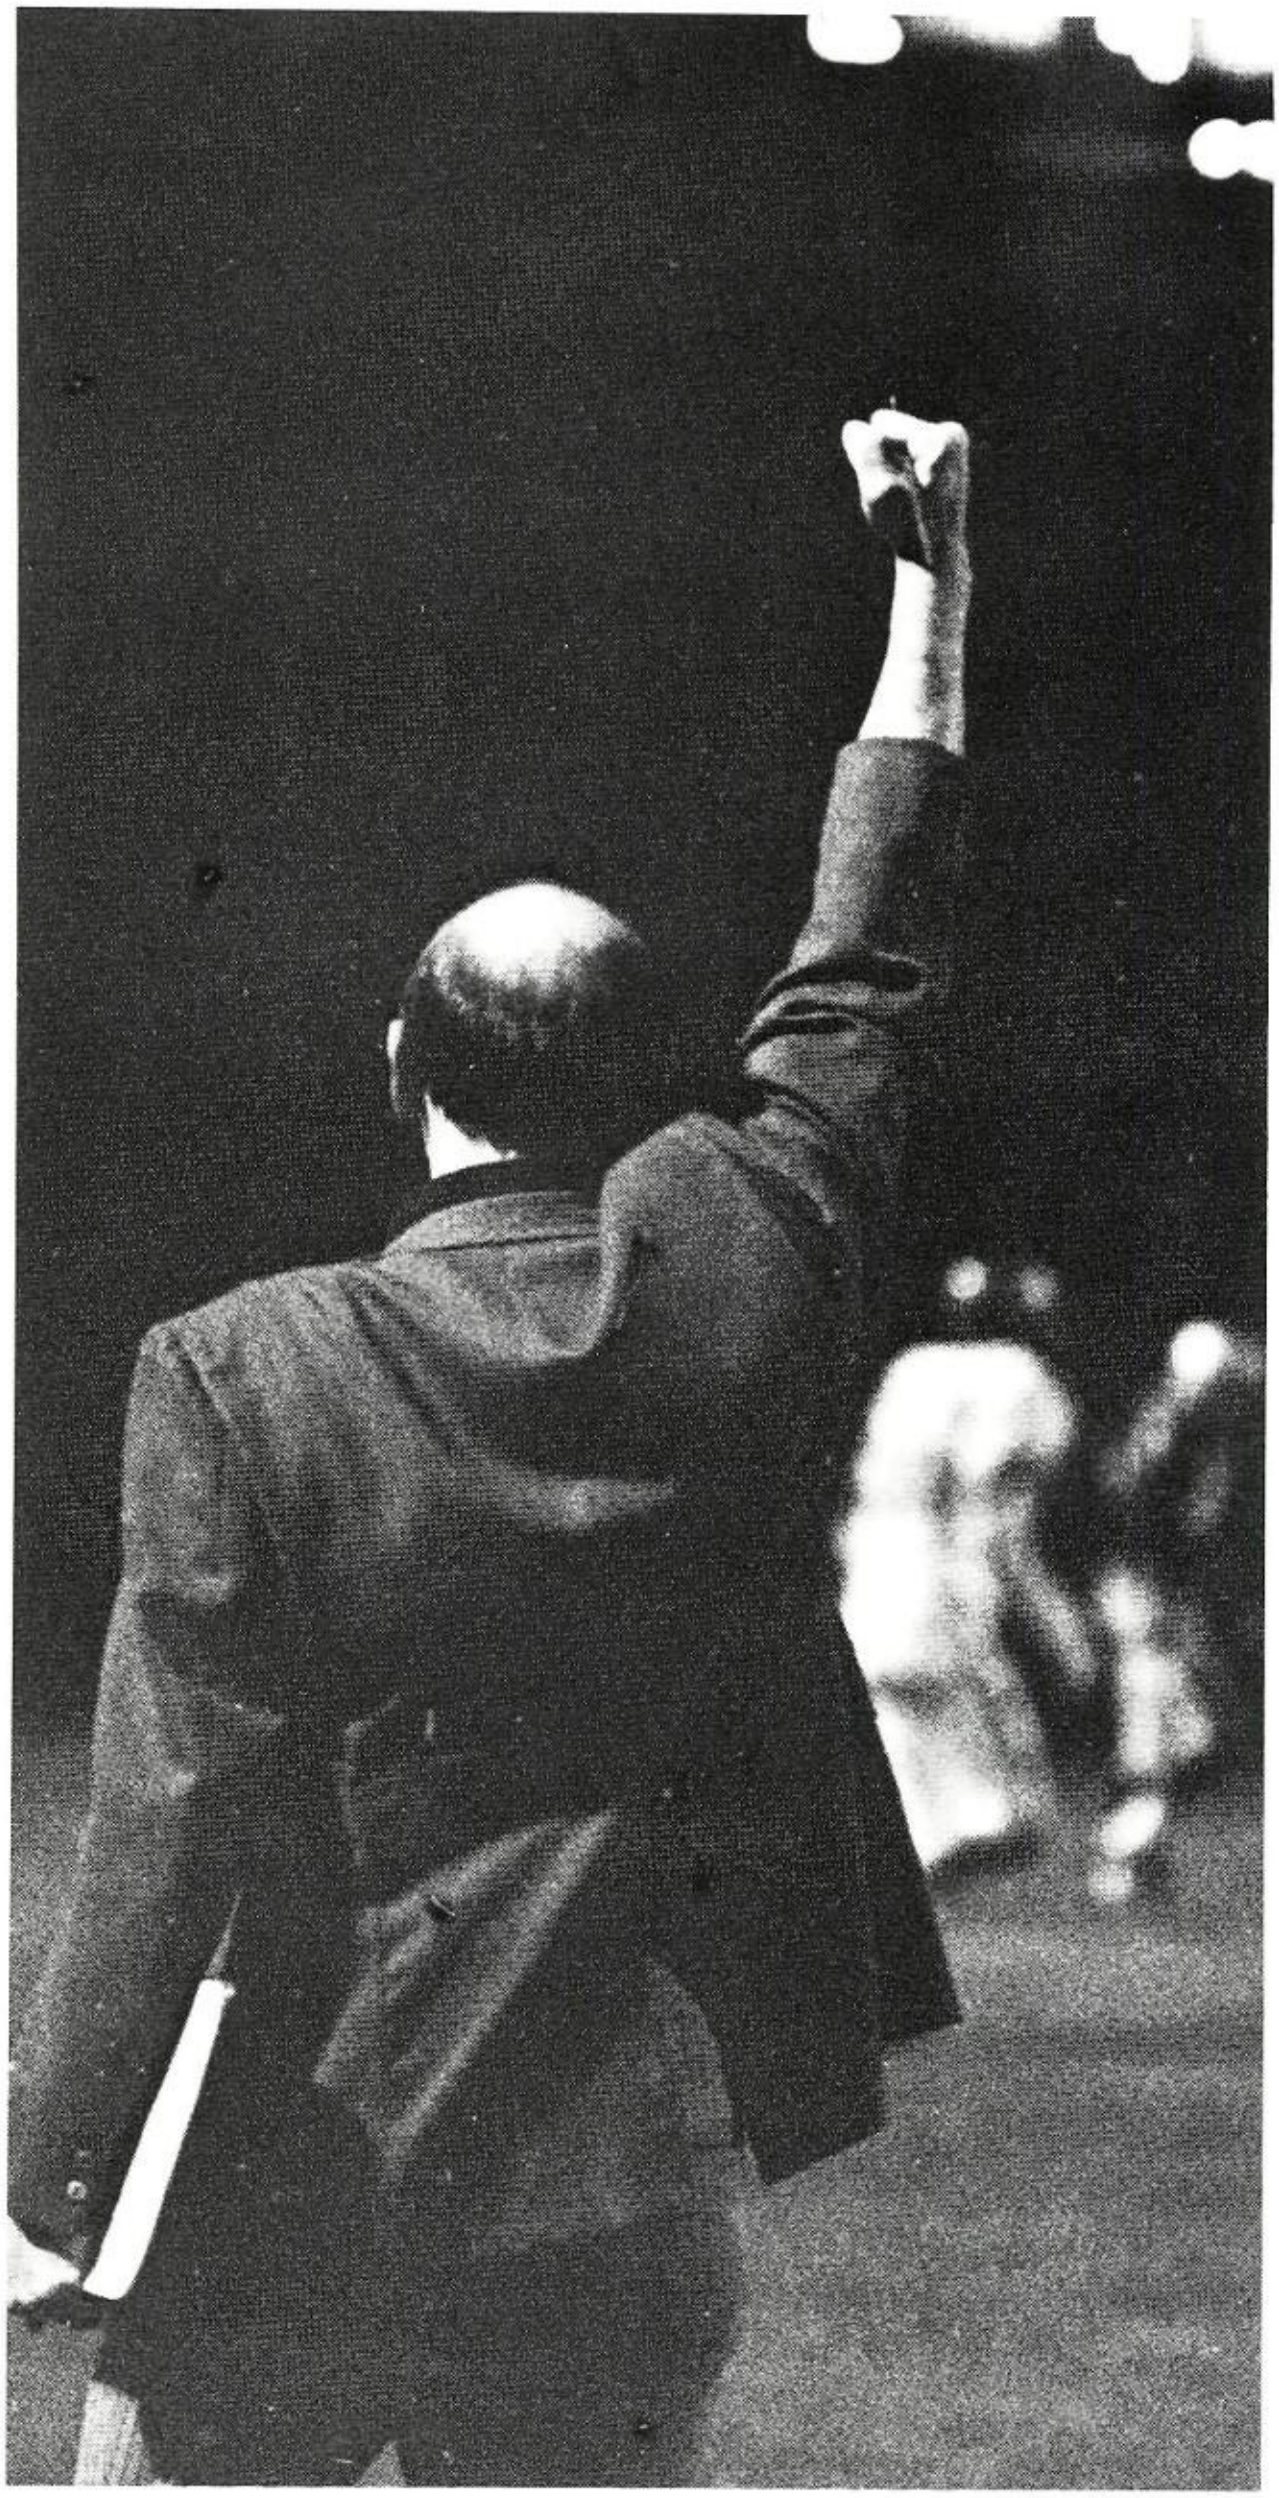
Six-year old crown bearer, Debbie Luing, wonders if some day she may have the opportunity to become the WHS Homecoming Queen.

Whistling, shouting, and screaming rebounded from the four walls of the auditorium as Joel Krekelberg robes a surprised, but elated Sue Rogers as Homecoming Queen.



Jon Krekelberg, five-year old brother of King Joel, waits for his chance to "get into the action" during the 1972-73 Coronation Ceremoney. With a twinkle in his eye, and a smile on his face, Jon fully agrees with the choice of the student body.

Climaxing a full week's reign over various "Spirit Week" activities, Queen Sue Rogers and her attendants take one last ride around the football field during half-time ceremonies.



A Frenzied Fan Gives Her Viewpoint of the Game

I battled my way through the crowd, push for push, shove for shove, elbow for elbow. You had to be nails to play at this game called spectator. I stopped to grab a hot dog before the game started and couldn't help but wonder what was tougher—playing football, or getting something to eat.

Finding a seat was an experience in itself, but finally, exhausted, I sat down with my friends. I couldn't help but feel a little nervous, even though I was satisfied just to be watching.

The game started with more excitement than had any before it. As everybody was cheering the team, my eyes began their search. There he was— #17. I couldn't help but feel nervous and I said a little prayer for him. Every time he got hit I anxiously awaited for him to get up, each time fearing that maybe he wouldn't.

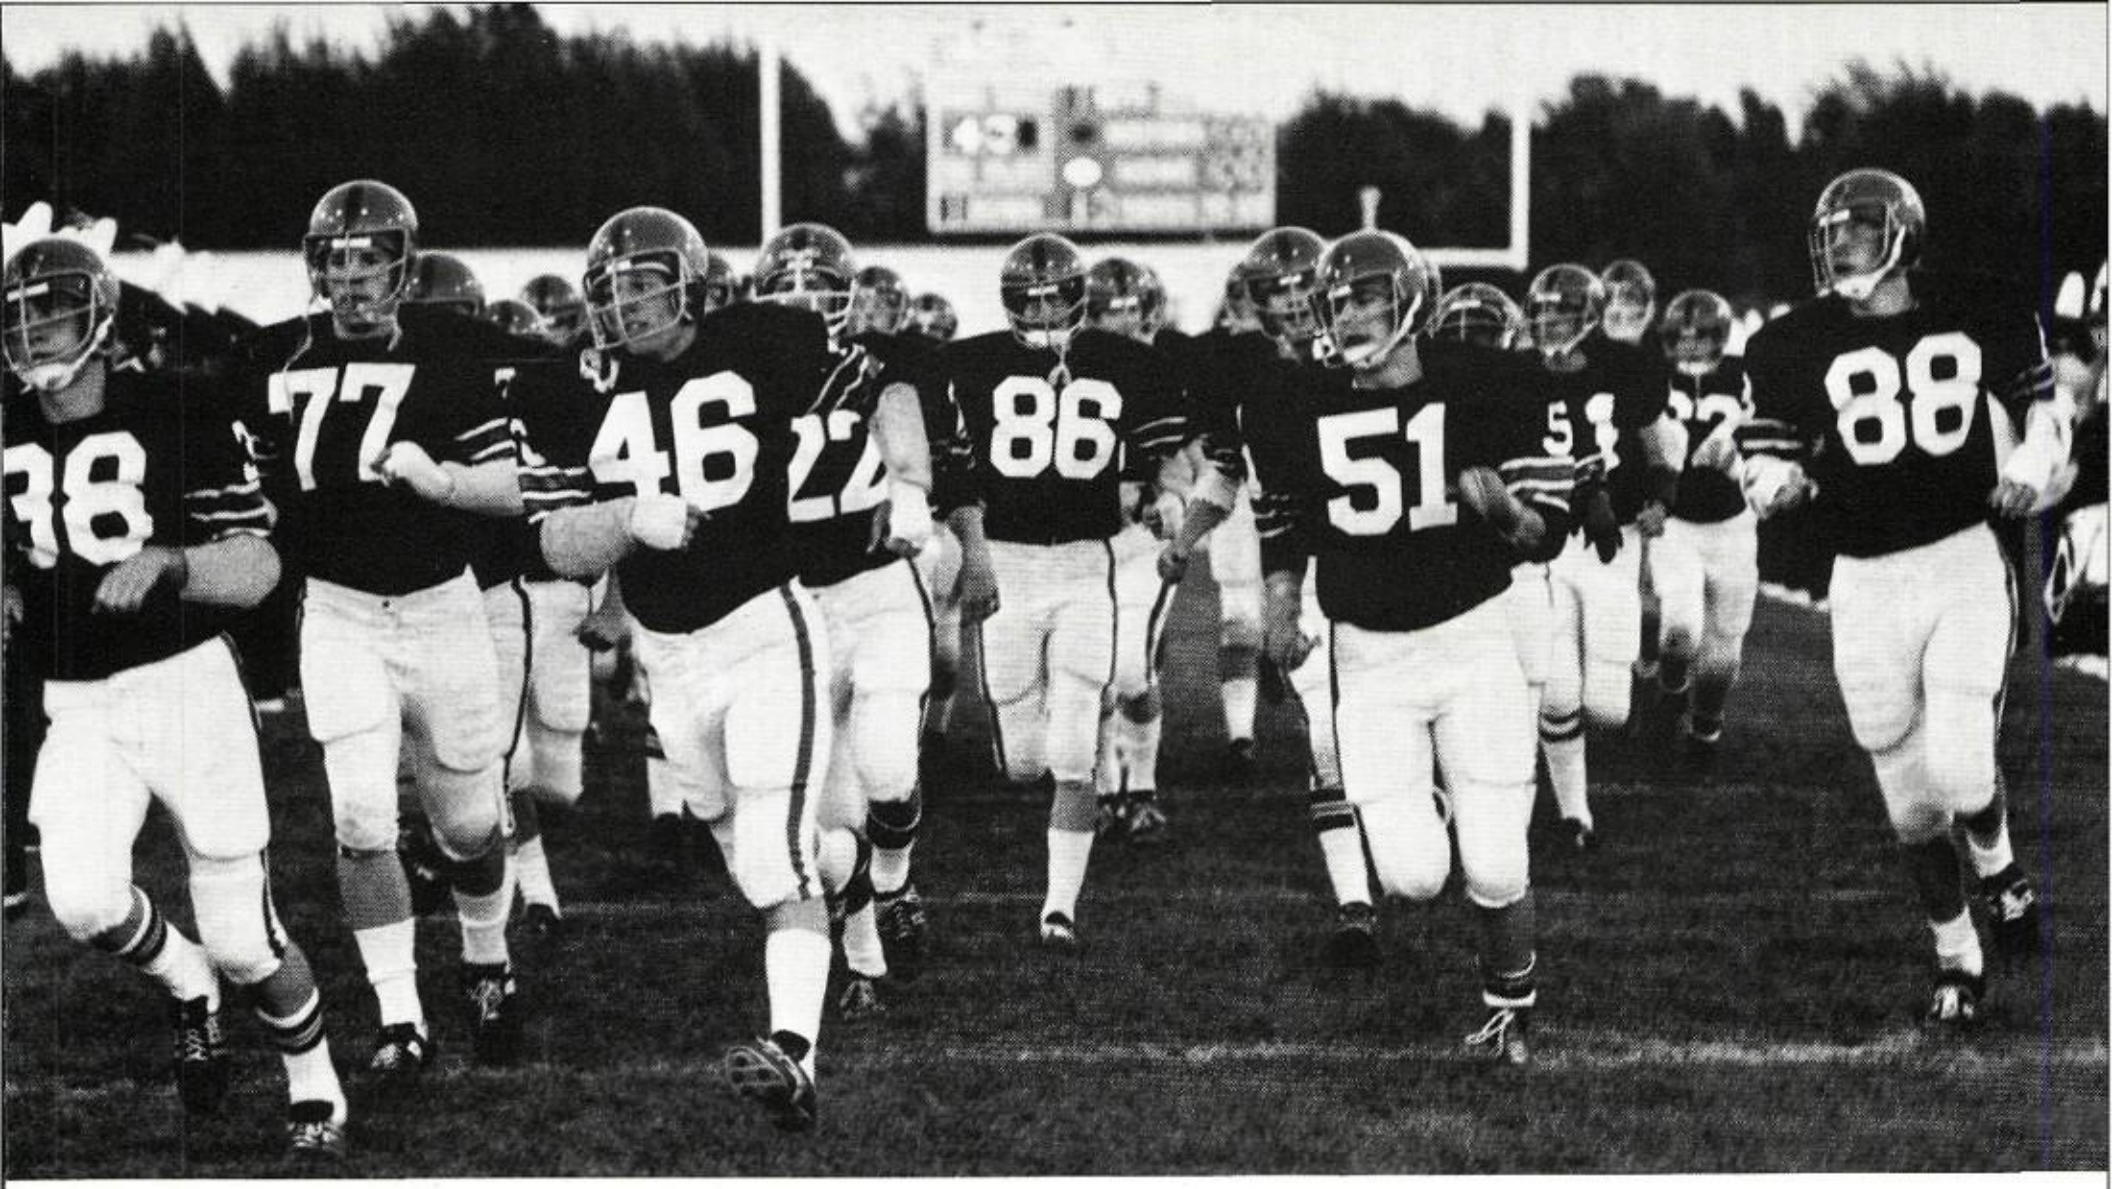
The guys were all doing their tactical moves that I knew nothing about, but I was learning. I could hear girls voices echoing "Why did they do that?" and once in awhile I'd surprise myself by answering.

All of a sudden—bam! a touch down! As I stood their squishing my hotdog I was hugged by at least 5 girls each one screaming in my ear. If you happened to be under the stands, it must have sounded like a heard of elephants passing overhead. "Who was it?" rumbled through the crow and I stood there proudly as #17 was the response.

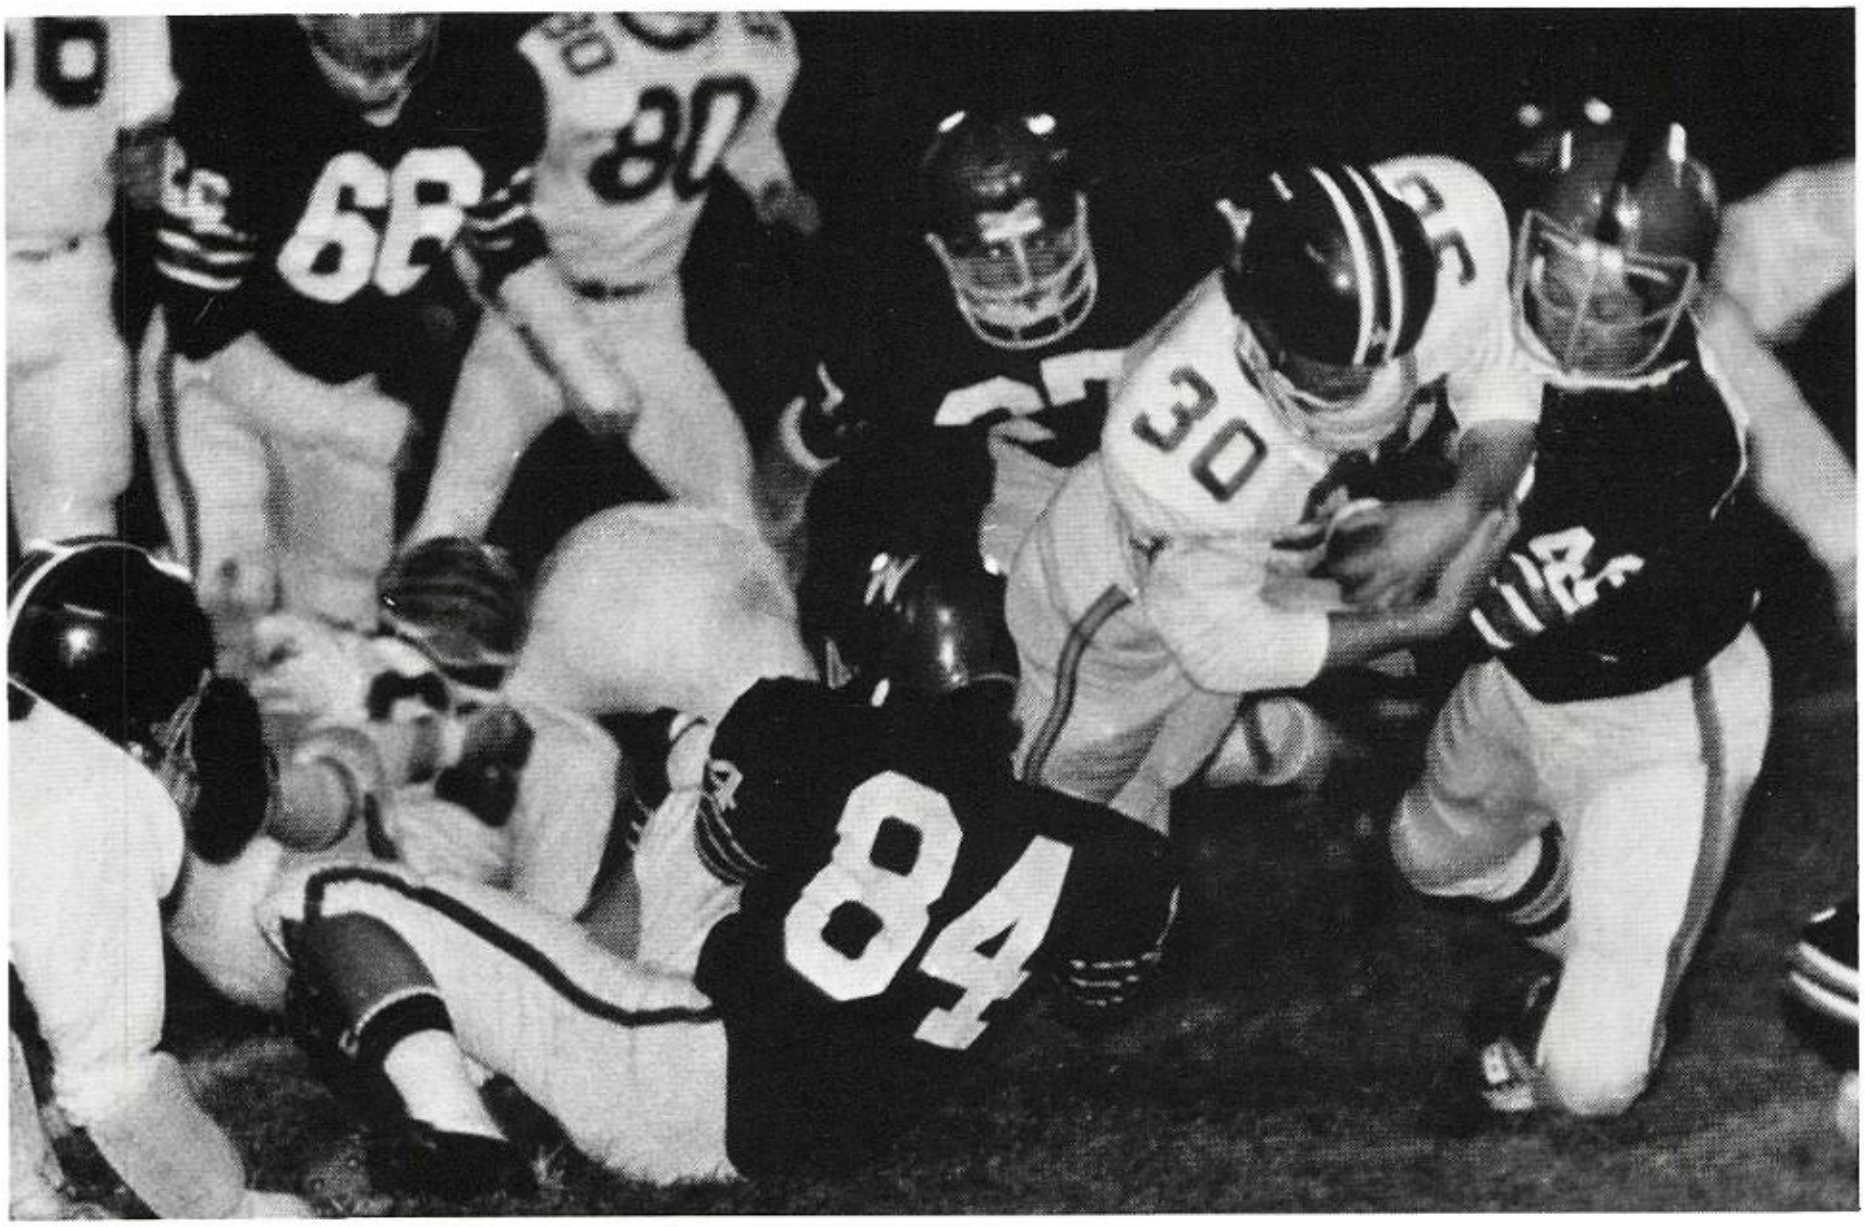
Back and forth the ball went, first toward one goal post, then toward the other. With each touchdown we all screamed and hugged each other a little harder—especially those of us who had boy friends on the field. #17 was always in each play doing something fantastic, or maybe it just seemed that way to me.

All too soon the game was over, my friends had gone, the field was empty, the lights were dimmed, my head was whirling from cheers and hugs—we had won! Alone I blissfully walked to the locker room and waited for #17.

Coach Don Kuiper raises his arm in victory as another Trojan score flashes up on the scoreboard.



No. 38 Joel Krekelberg, No. 46 Kevin Bray, No. 22 Craig Deuel, No. 86 Mike Gordon, No. 51 Eric Johnson, and No. 88 Steve Boucher, and the rest of the Trojan gridders are greeted by the Trojan band as they prepare for another tough conference game.



The tough Trojan defense "shows its' stuff" as it stops the hard running attack of the Jackson Bluejays. No. 46 Kevin Bray and No. 84 Rick Van Roekel show teamwork as they stop this Jay halfback. Despite the Trojans' homecoming endeavor, the Bluejays won 20-13.

Trojan's Season Standings Low, but School Spirit High

The WHS Football Team finished their 1972 season with a 3-6 record. The mighty Trojans were led by co-captains Eric Johnson and Joel Krekelberg.

An away victory with Owatonna started the year off with a bang. Originally from Owatonna, Coach Roger Lipelt succeeded Milt Osterberg at the head coach position and led the Trojans to a 13-7 victory over his home town. The players reaction to the new coach was very favorable, as was Coach Lipelt's reaction to the team.

Sue Rogers and Joel Krekelberg, Homecoming Royalty, reigned over the homecoming festivities. The Trojans battled Jackson, but lost 13-20.

Senior Homecoming Attendents were; Michelle Naab, Dianne Snyder, Michelle Habeck, Jana Parker, Jill Demuth, Jeff Sellberg, Kevin Bray, Marc Shannon, Rick VanRoekel and Craig Moss. Junior Attendents were Cindy Eckerson and Mike Caldwell. Sophomore Attendents were Carol Lenz and Lee Strom.

Another standard feature of the football season was Spirit Week. The Coronation Ceremony started off Spirit Week on Monday and was topped of by the football game on Friday night.

Head Coach Roger Lipelt was assisted by three very capable assistants for the '72 season; Coach Schimbeno, Coach Droegemueller and Coach Kuiper. All four did their best to try to turn the '72 season into a winning effort for the Trojans.

Leading the Trojan cheering section in 1972 were ten cheerleaders; Head cheerleader Michelle Habeck, Sue Rogers, Dawn Yahnke, Deb Bourassa, Dawn Eshelman, Marcia Opsata, Jill Demuth, Pat Graf, Pam Hansberger, and Shelley Luing. All ten had previous experience and contributed greatly to the school spirit.

Halfback, Craig Deuel utilizes a straight arm to gain yardage as Shane Peters blocks effectively on his Windom opponent.

Bombers "Explode" to a Winning 4-2 Season, Look for a Good Year in '73

The slogan "Bomber Power" is very much in evidence as a Luverne punt is almost blocked. Leading their team to a victorious season were Coaches Droegemueller and Kuiper, and cheerleaders Carol Lenz, Barb Sellberg, JoAnn Motl, Val Habeck and Sharon Strough.

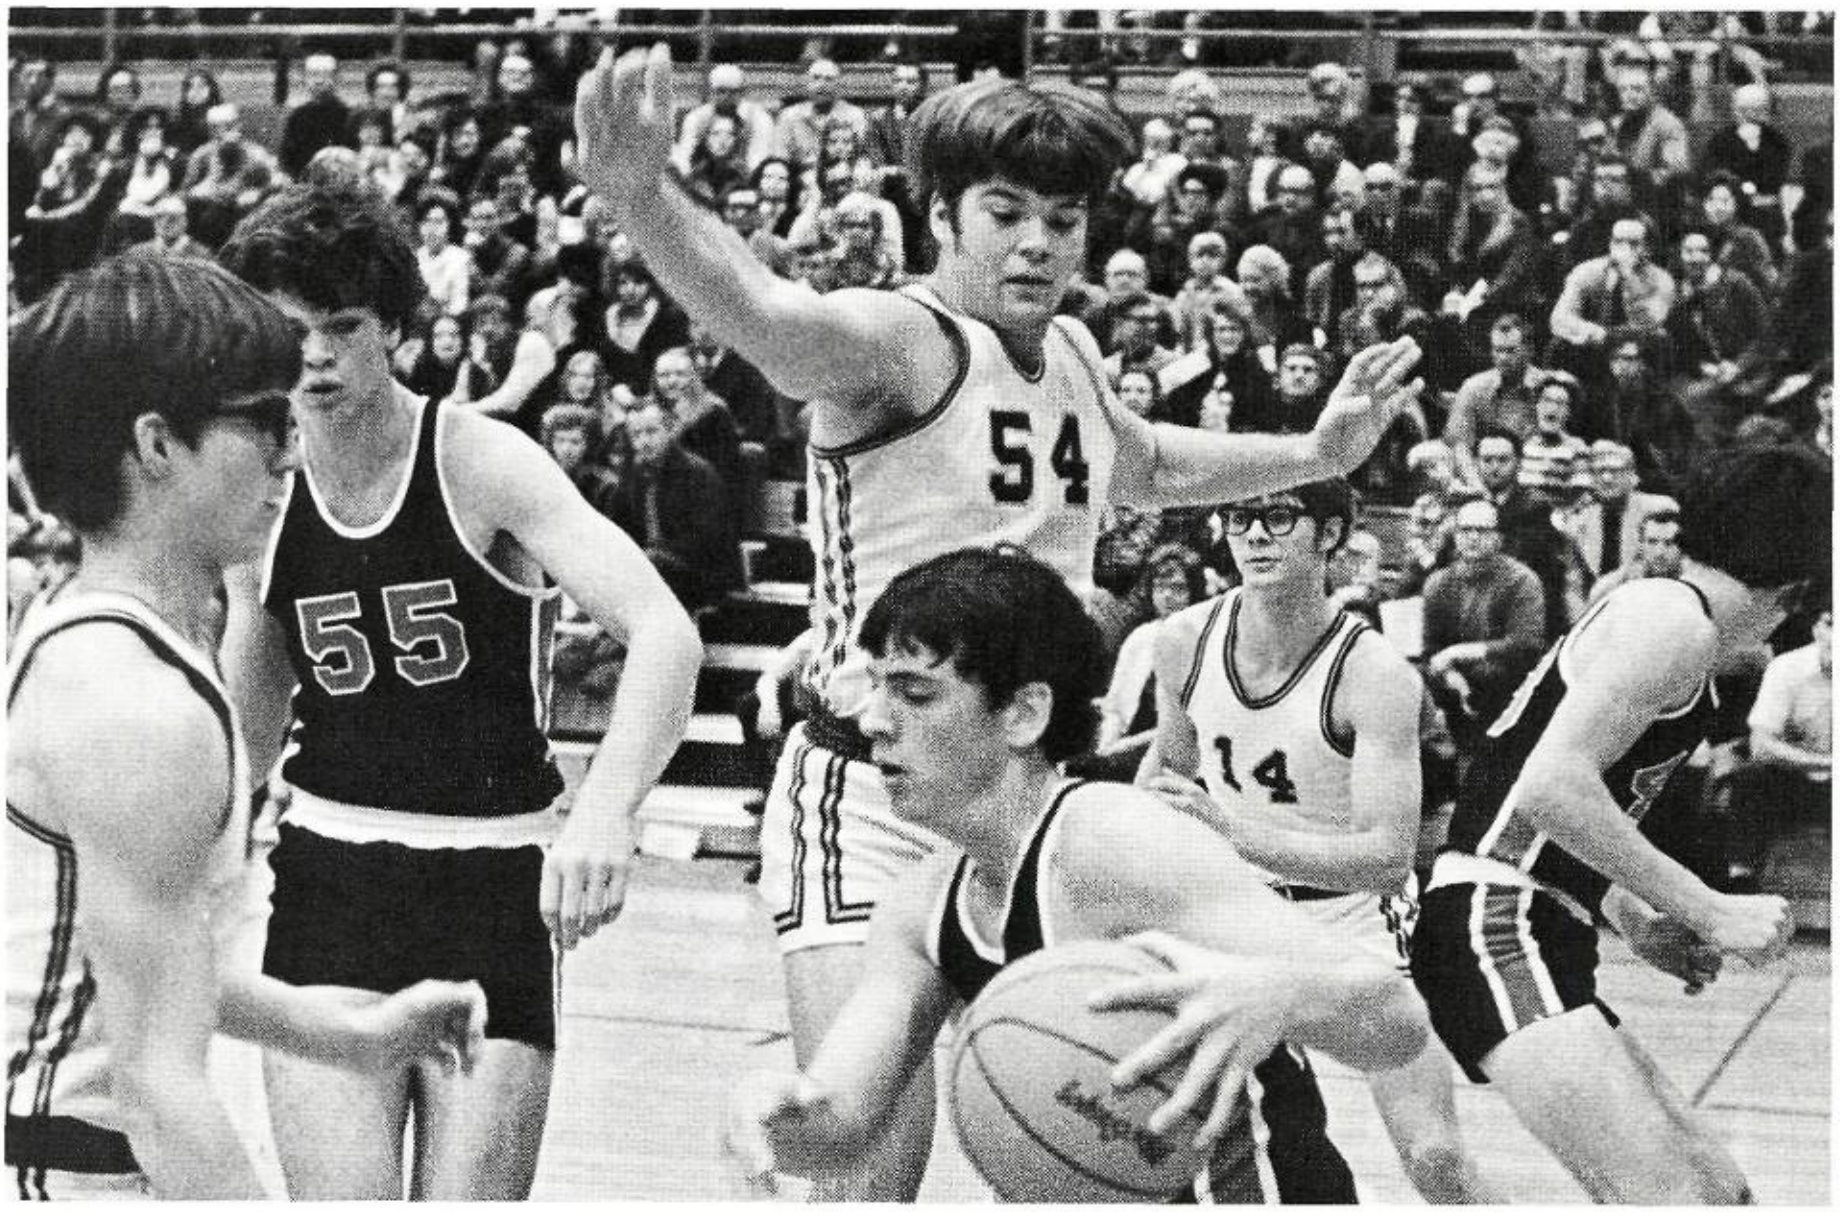
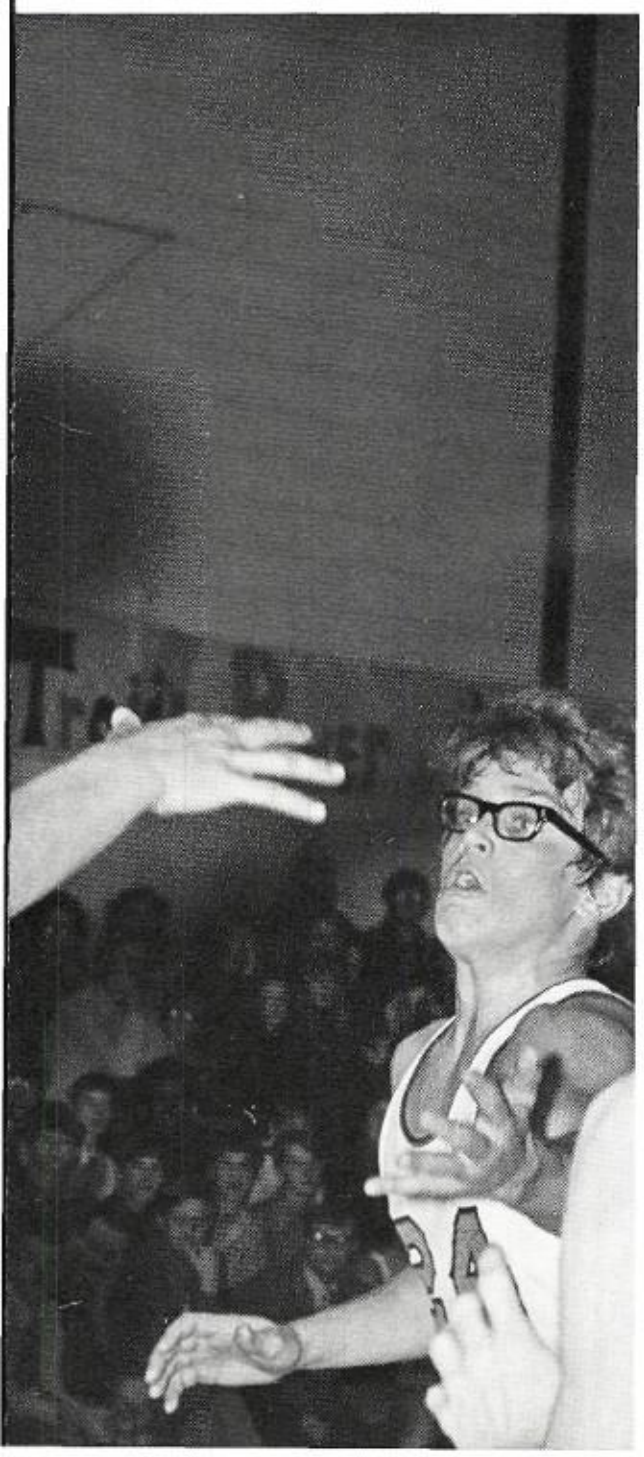
Returning lettermen for the 72-73 Trojan basketball team are: Rick Van Roekel and Joel Krekelberg. These experienced Senior lettermen led the Trojan squad to many victories. Under the supervision of Coach Don Basche, excellent basketball techniques were learned. The creation of unyielding school spirit, courage and determination brought each team member much satisfaction and pride.

Returning Lettermen Lend Their Skills in Creating a Victorious Year for the Trojans

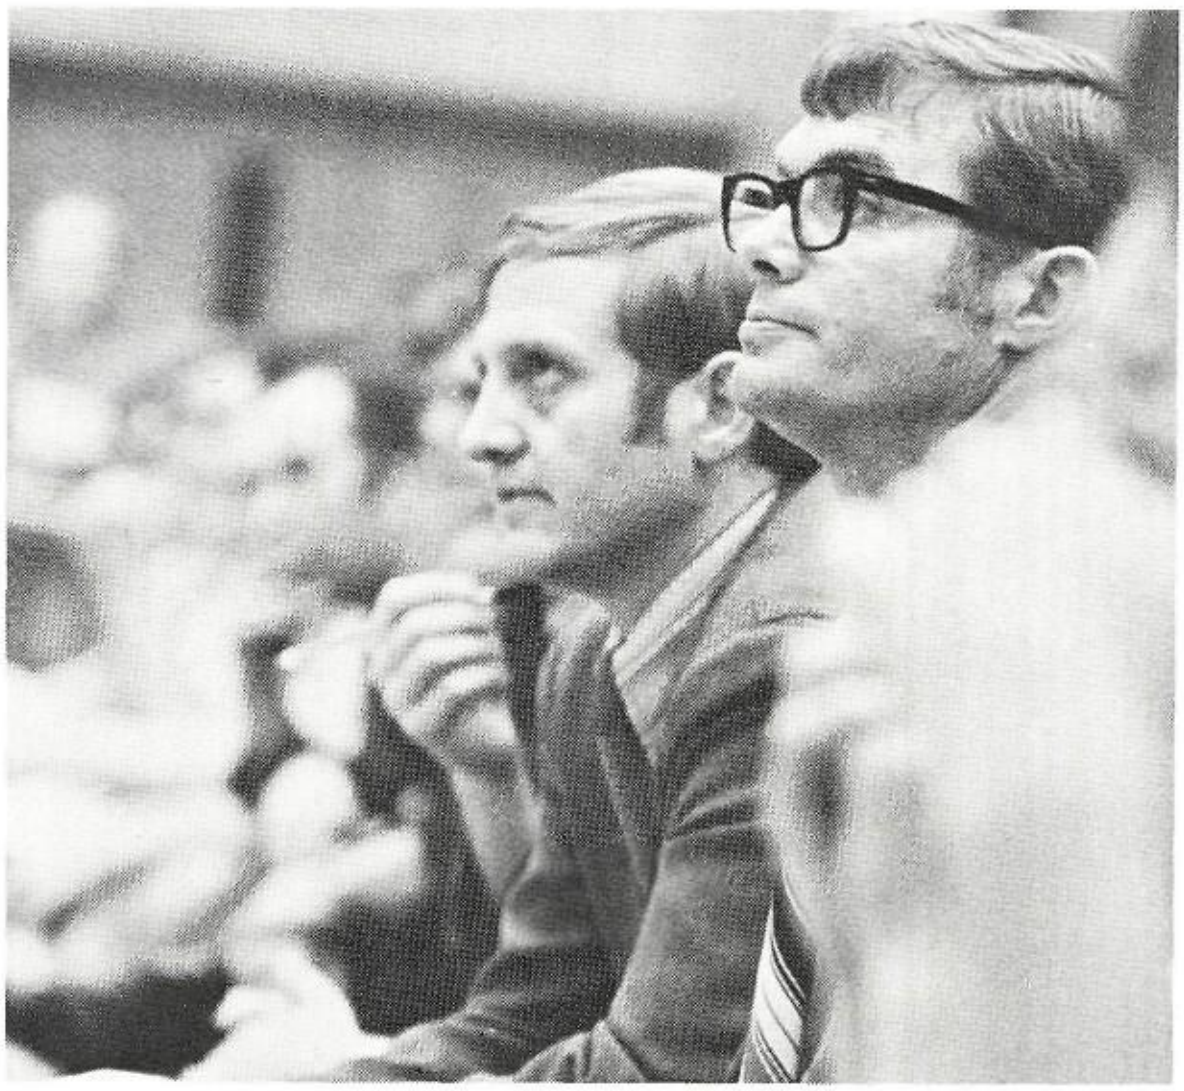
Attempting to get the ball to the opposite end of the court are Greg O'Brien (34), Joel Krekelberg (32), Tim Reker and Rick Van Roekel (24).

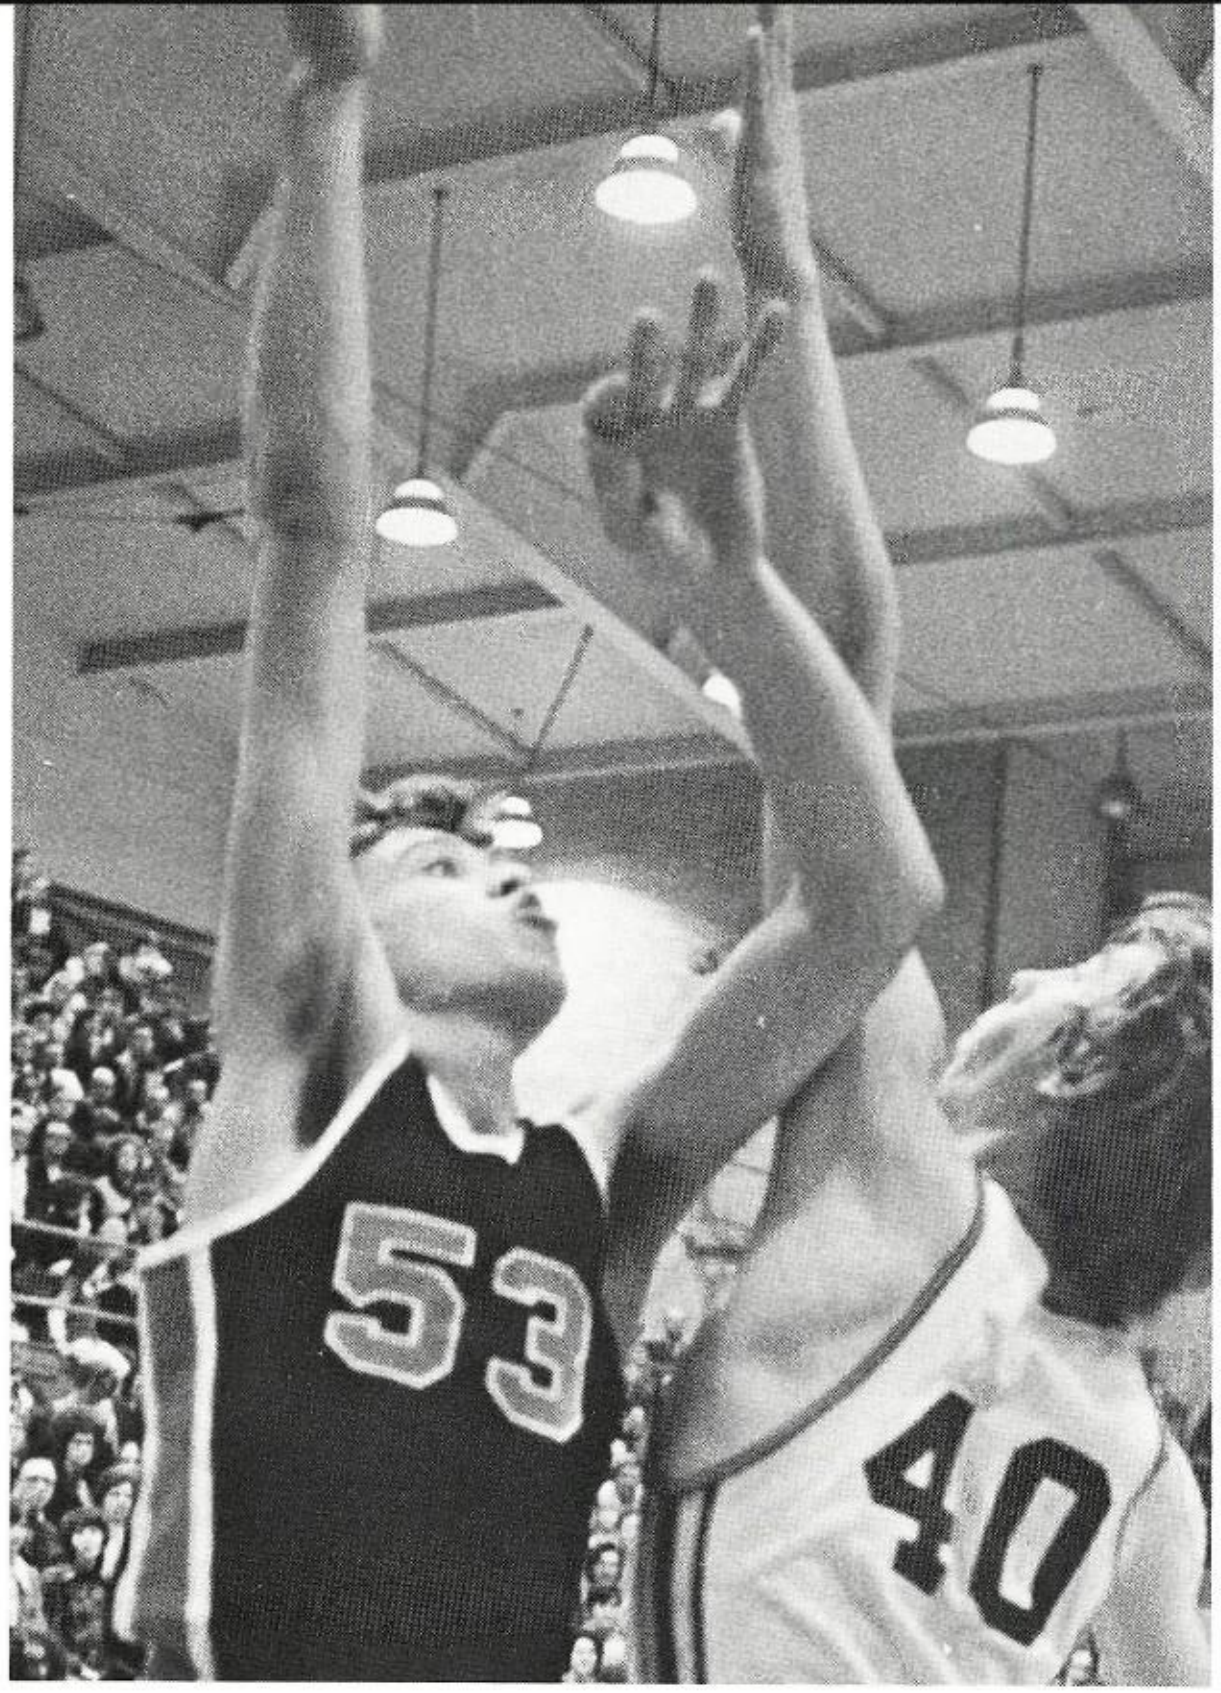




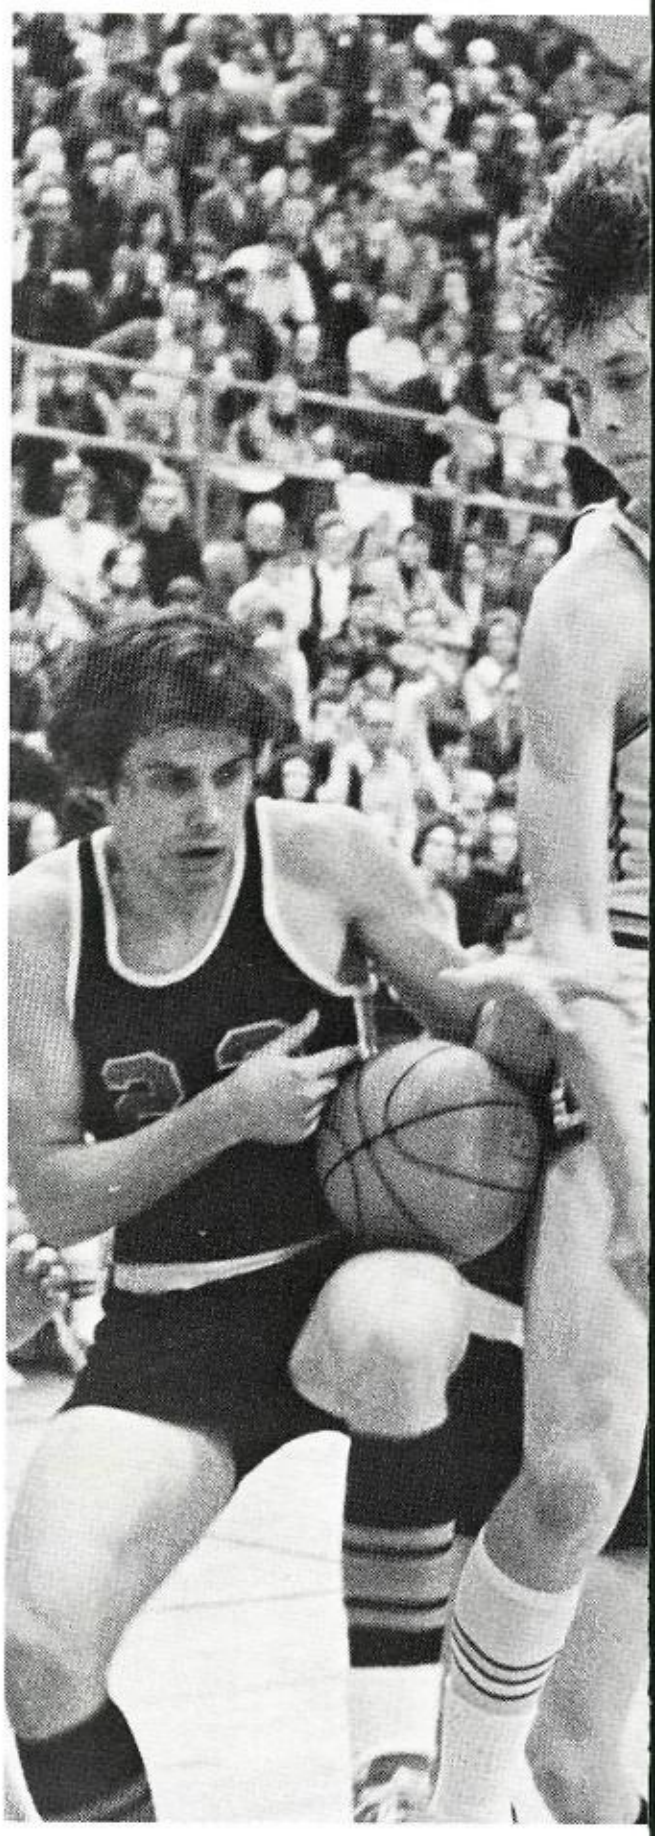
Grabbing the rebound, Trojan forward, Greg O'Brien (34) tries to break a block and add two more points to the Trojan score.

With an unquestionable look of tension, Coaches Don Basche and John Forsyth watch the final outcome of the game.

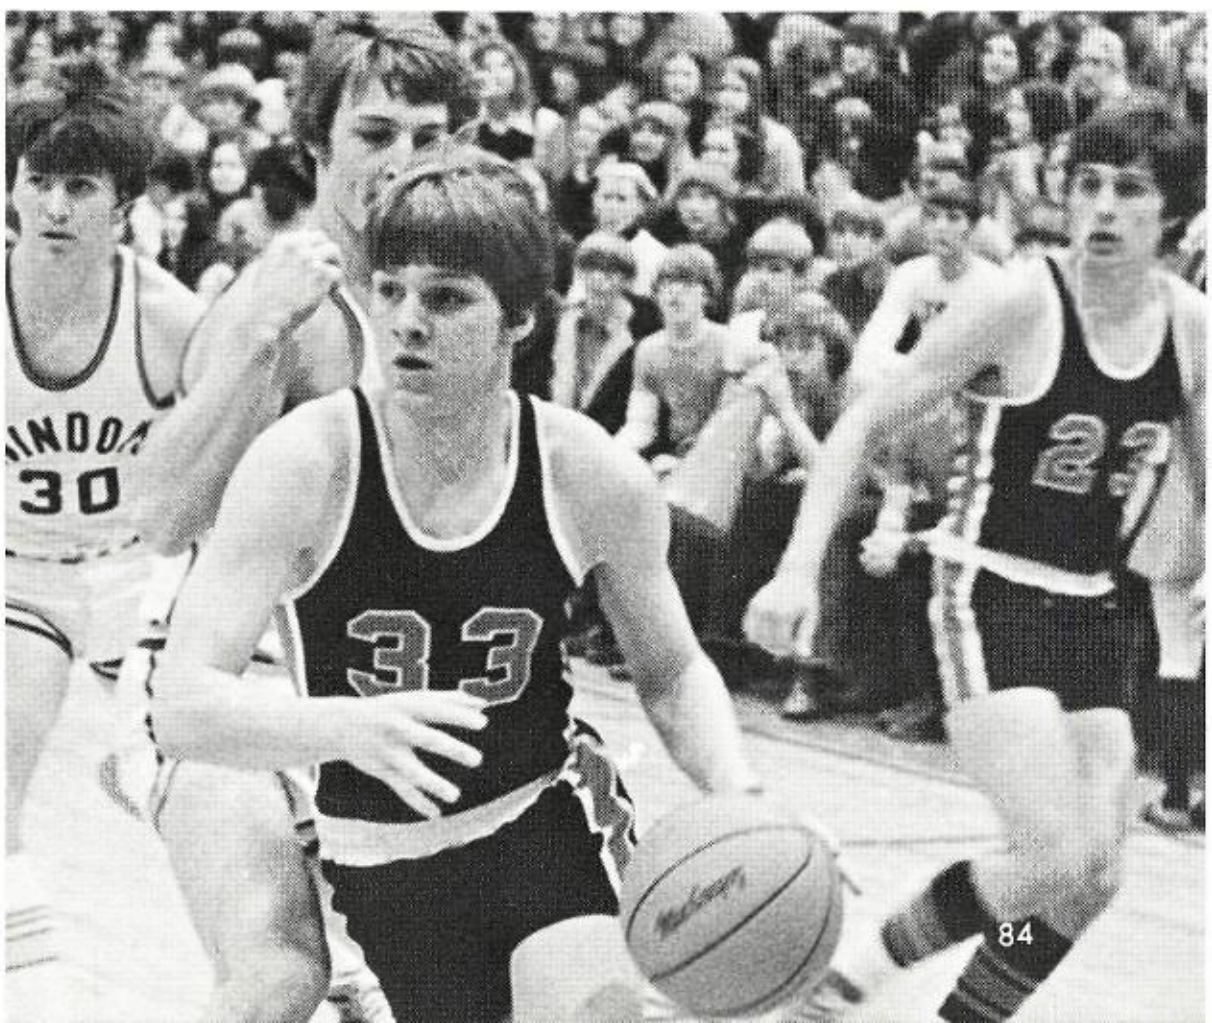




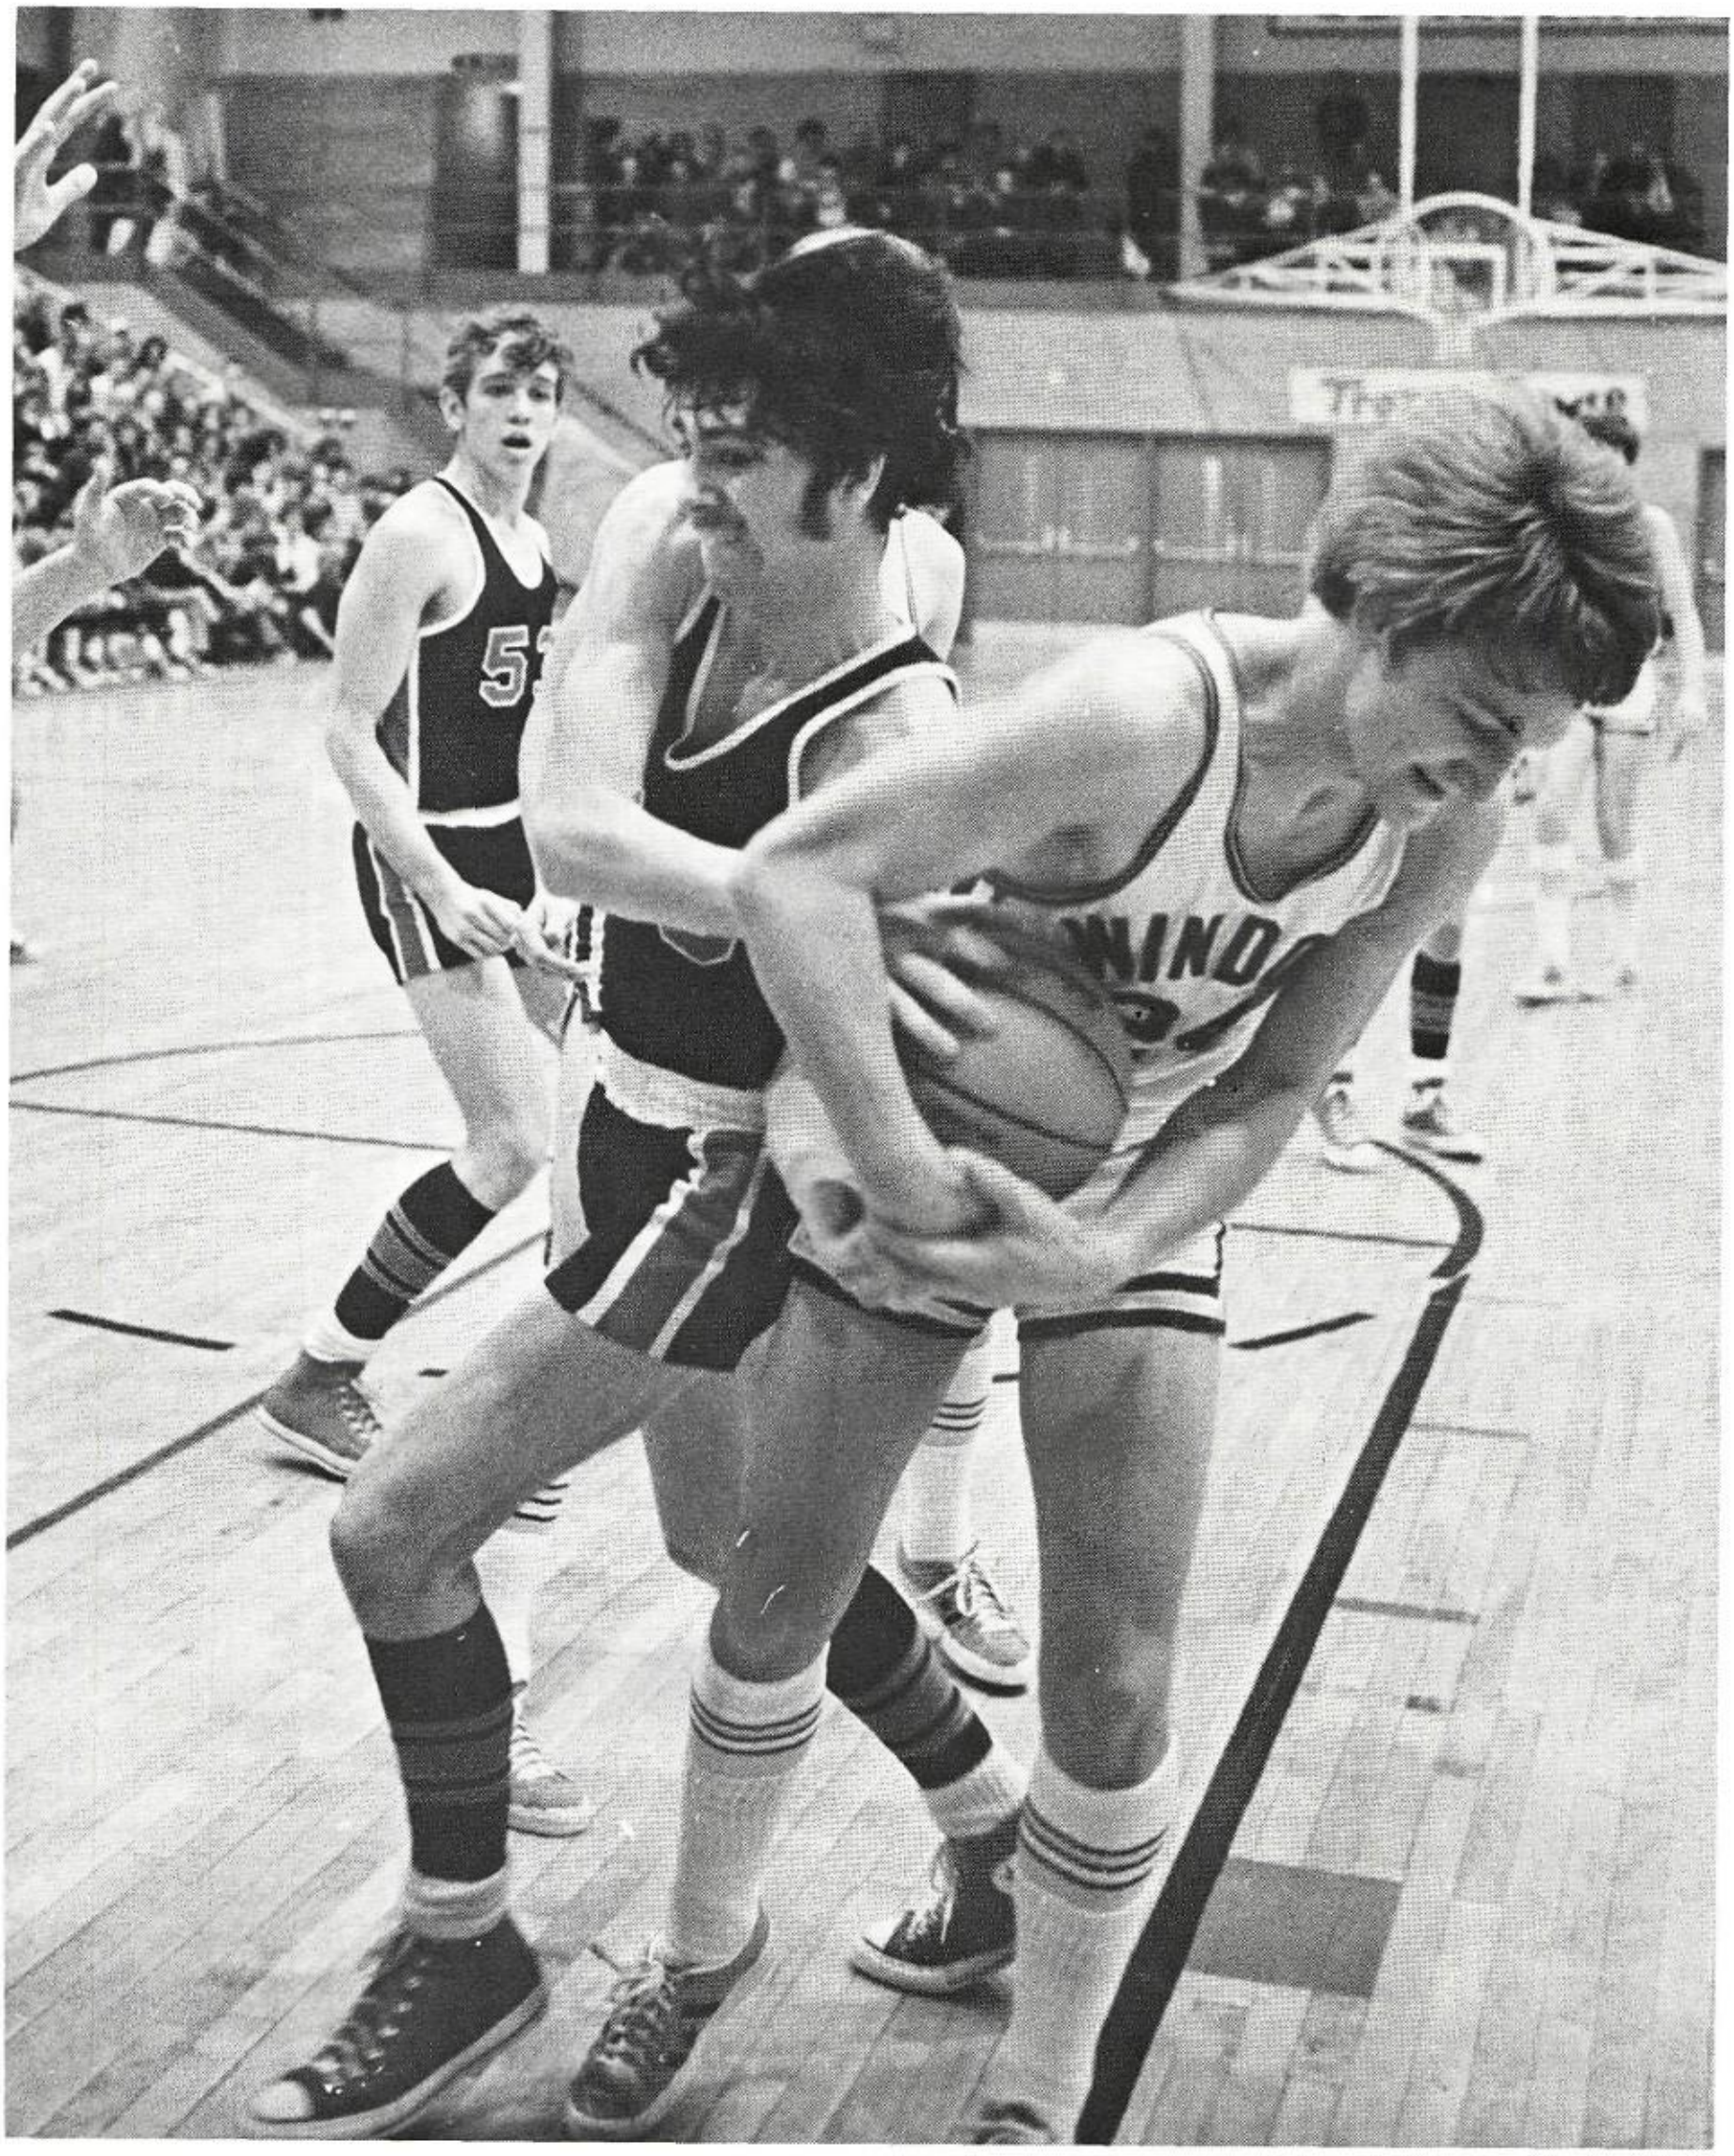
Stretching for all he's worth Tim Reker (53) rely's on experience in this situation. With Reker's height and skill he out jumped his Windom opponent for a rebound. With the help of his team's determination he brought the ball to the Trojan side.



Trojan Jeff Selberg seems to be in a rather tight situation but with strenuous effort, Jeff scored two more points.



"Out of my way!" shouts Trojan Joel Krekelberg. "I'm heading for another two points!" Krekleberg is one of the two returning letterman.



"Whose ball did you say it was?" Determined Trojan Randy Bauermeister is doing a good job of convincing the opposition that it should be his. Tim Reker looks like he's ready to lend a hand to the situation if Randy can't get that ball. Coaches Don Basche and John Forsyth, long hours of practice and hard work went into making a winning team. Although the Trojans were tough, they couldn't emerge victorious over Windom.

"Look up and liven the Bombers up with two more points" is the philosophy followed by Bomber Mike Iblings. With Mike's abilty to score, this philosophy is not hard to follow. The Bombers proved to be successful once again in their game against Windom.

Working around his Windom opponent, Bomber Don Schlichte edges his way to another Bomber basket.

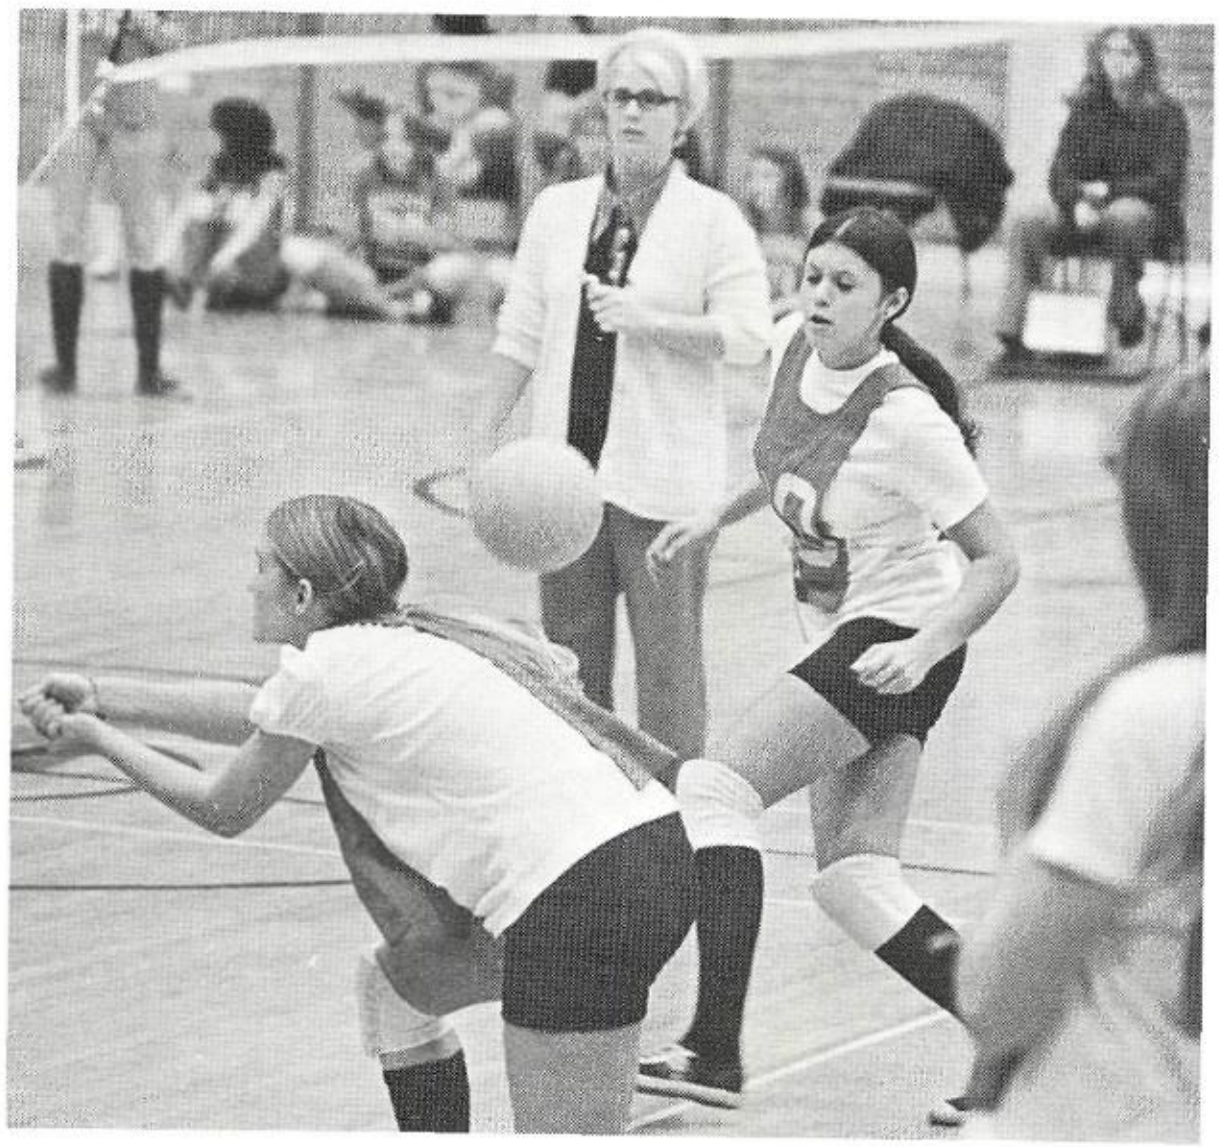
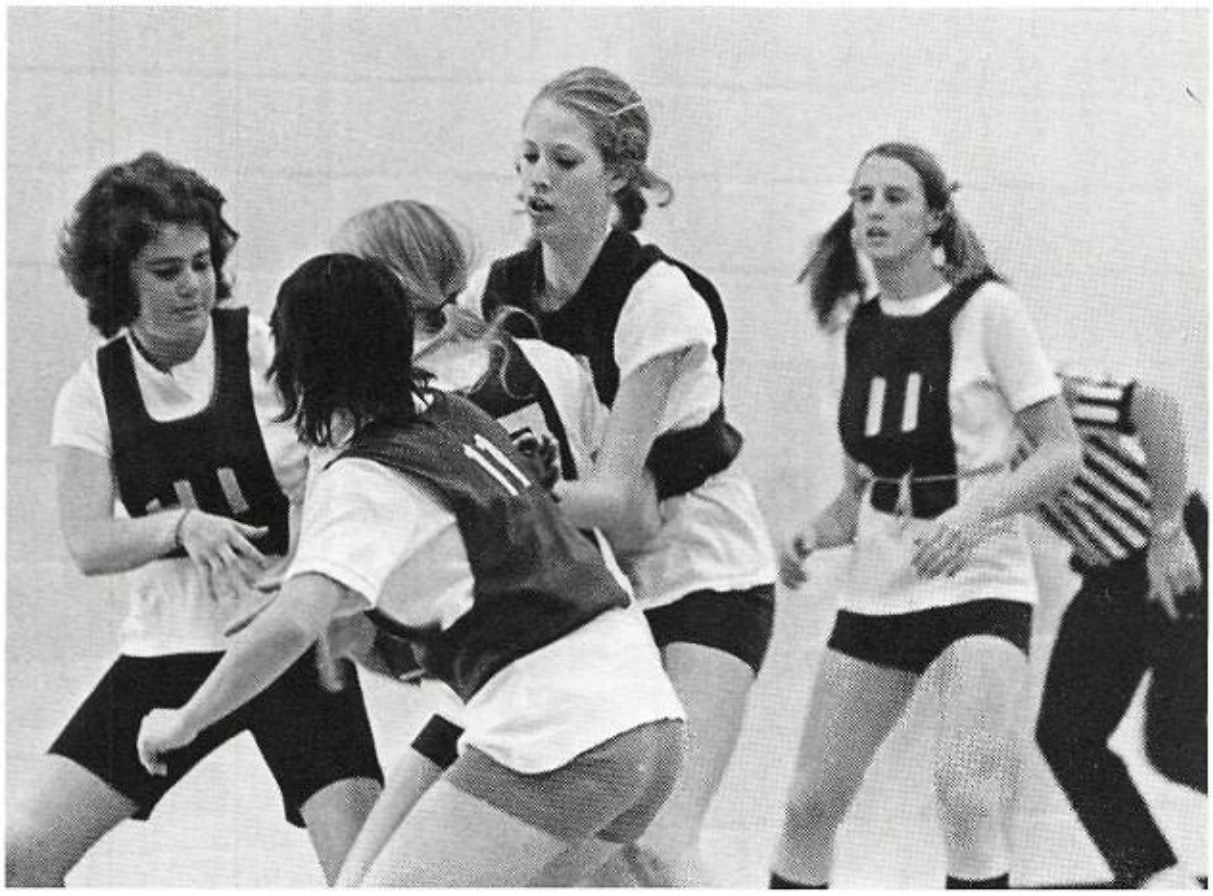
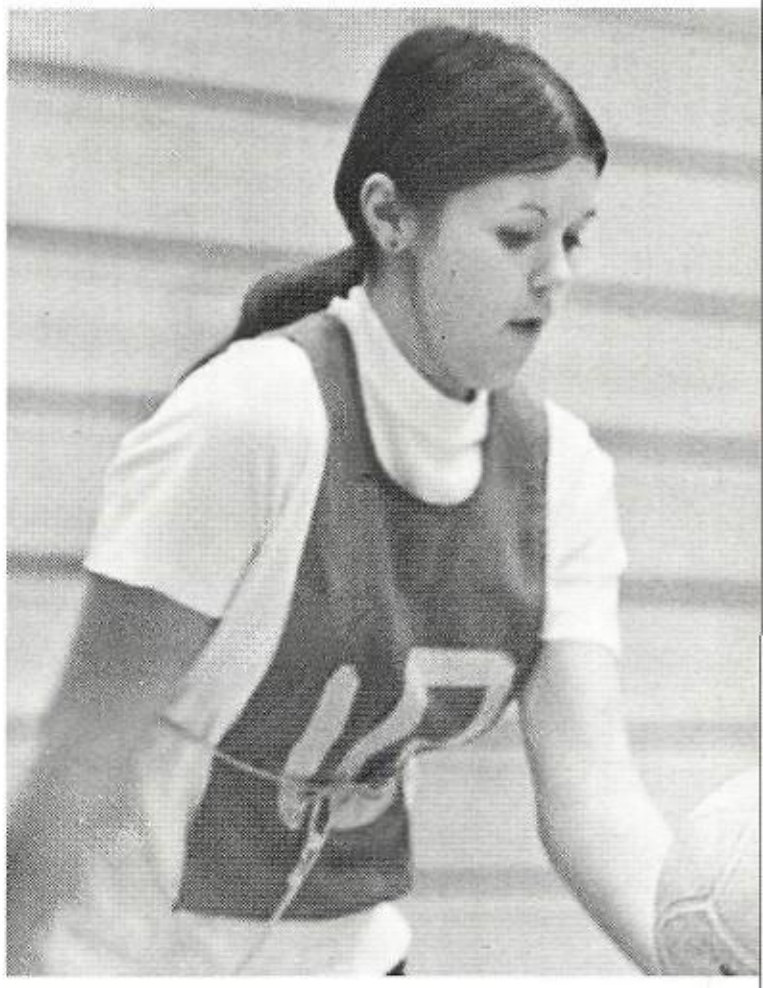
As setter Cindy Boddy unsuccessfully attempts to bump the ball back over the net after recieving a rather hard serve, spiker Carol Lenz tries to rescue the ball and prevent the other team from getting another point.

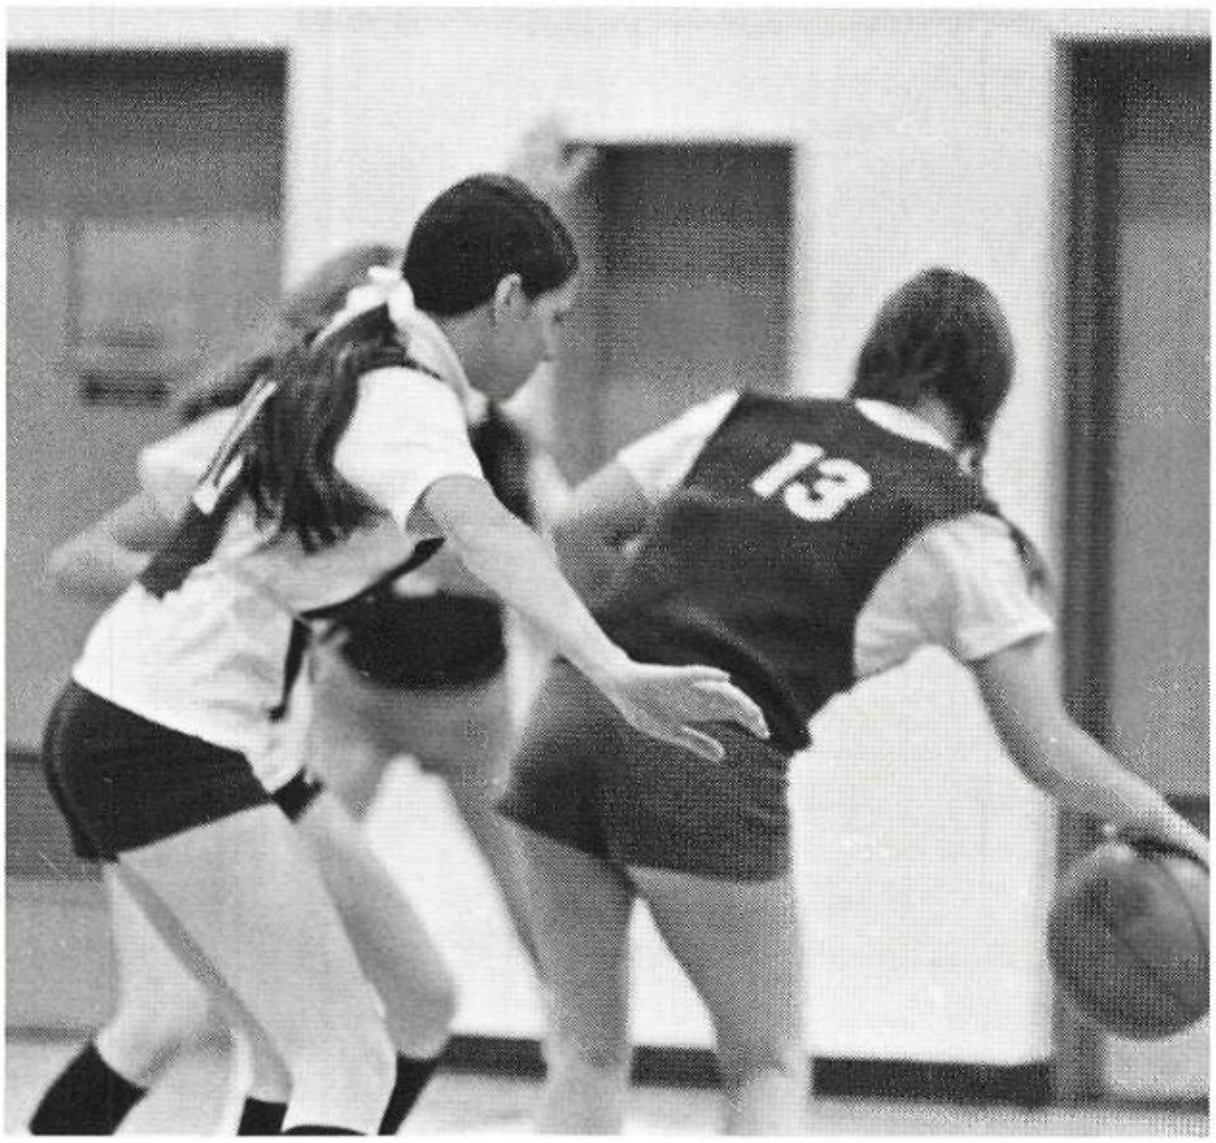




Struggling with the ball, the Trojan women attempt to secure the ball from their opponents and once again add two more points to the Wothington teams score. Miss Cooper and Miss Christiansen coach the team.



With muscle power, spiker Carol Lenz serves the ball across the net. The girls had an undefeated season.



"Come on Nancy lets get that ball!!" These and many others were the silent wishes of many of the excited spectators. Hoping for a few more baskets before half time, Nancy desperatly tries to take the ball away from her opponent and in most cases was successful.

Math and Science Courses Offer a Variety of Interests to the Students

Many interesting occurences can be witnessed in the math and science departments this year. Different sciences led students through jungles of cells and scientific equipment. Helping teachers were bacteria, test tubes and slide rulers. Through the teachers help, the students conducted experiments and learned about life forms and the mysteries of volume and chemical properties.

The senior class of 1972 added new interest to the science department, "Thomas Bernard", the skeleton was used for the study of human anatomy and bone structure. The science electives are Biology I and II, Chemistry I and II, Physics I and II, Advanced Biology I and II, Advanced Inorganic Chemistry, and Organic Chemistry.

In the math department teachers worked daily to analyze mathematical problems. Through Algebra, Geometry and M.I.A. young mathameticians plunged into an exciting and puzzeling world of facts and figures. All math courses are electives and they include; Geometry I and II, Elementary Algebra, Algebra I and II, Advanced Algebra I and II and Modern Introductory Analysis.

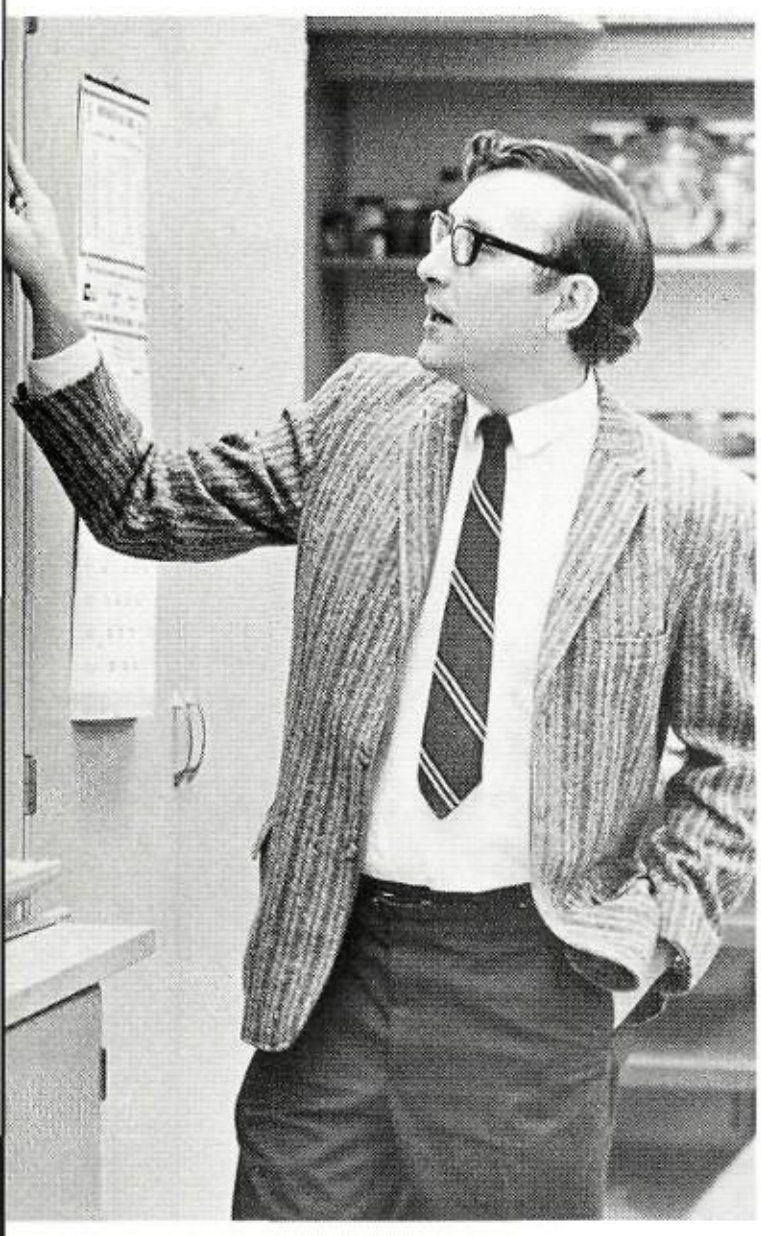
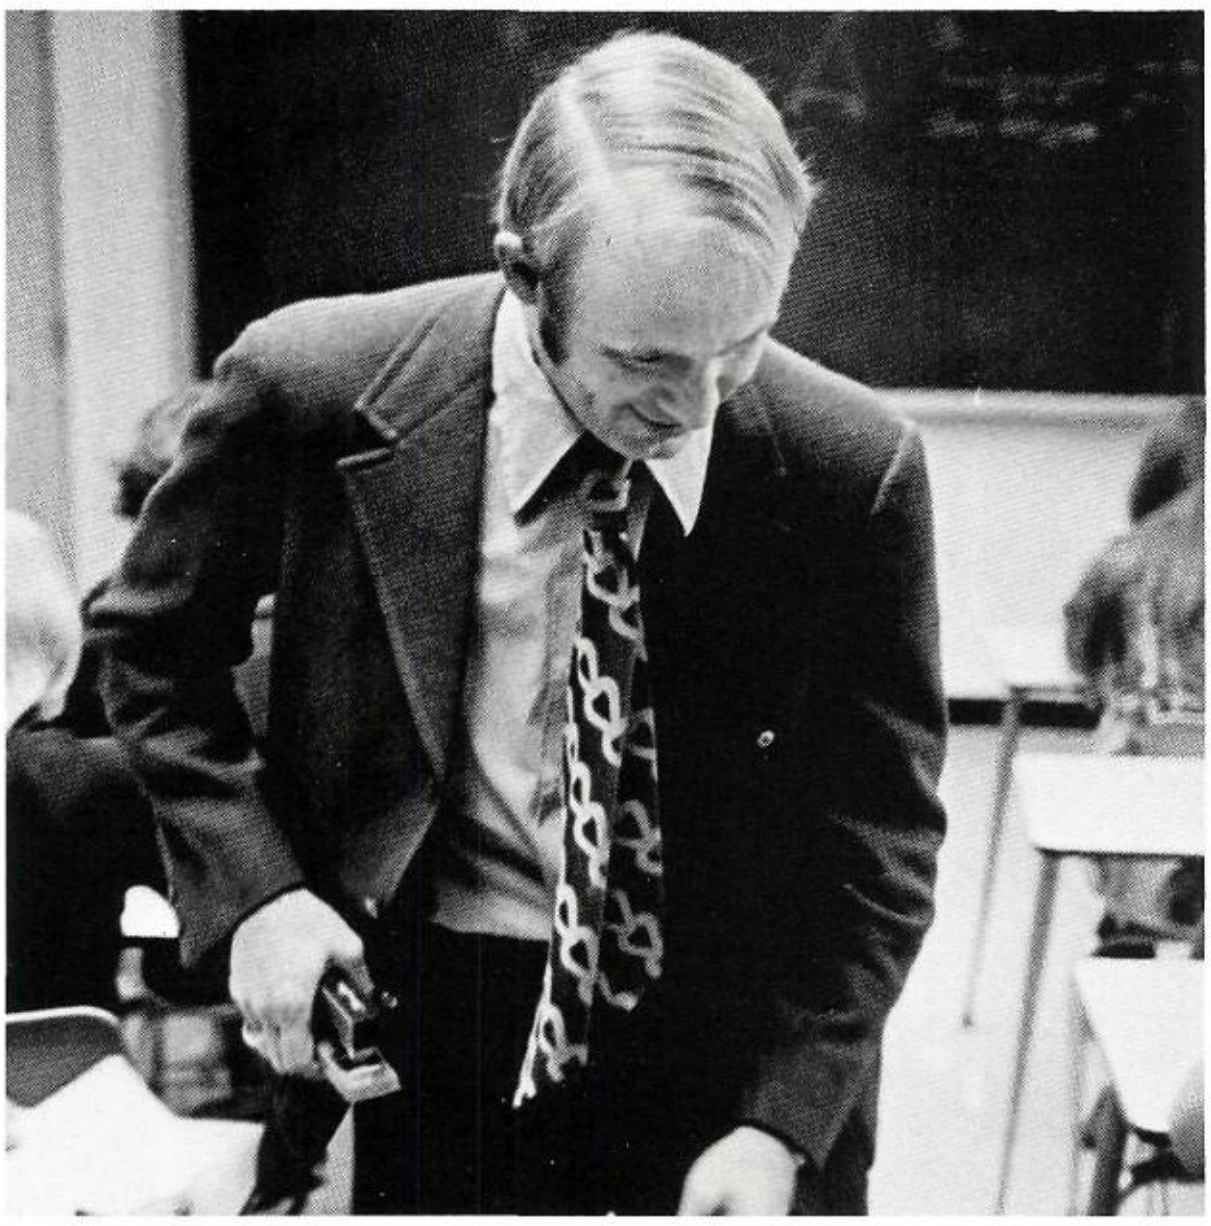
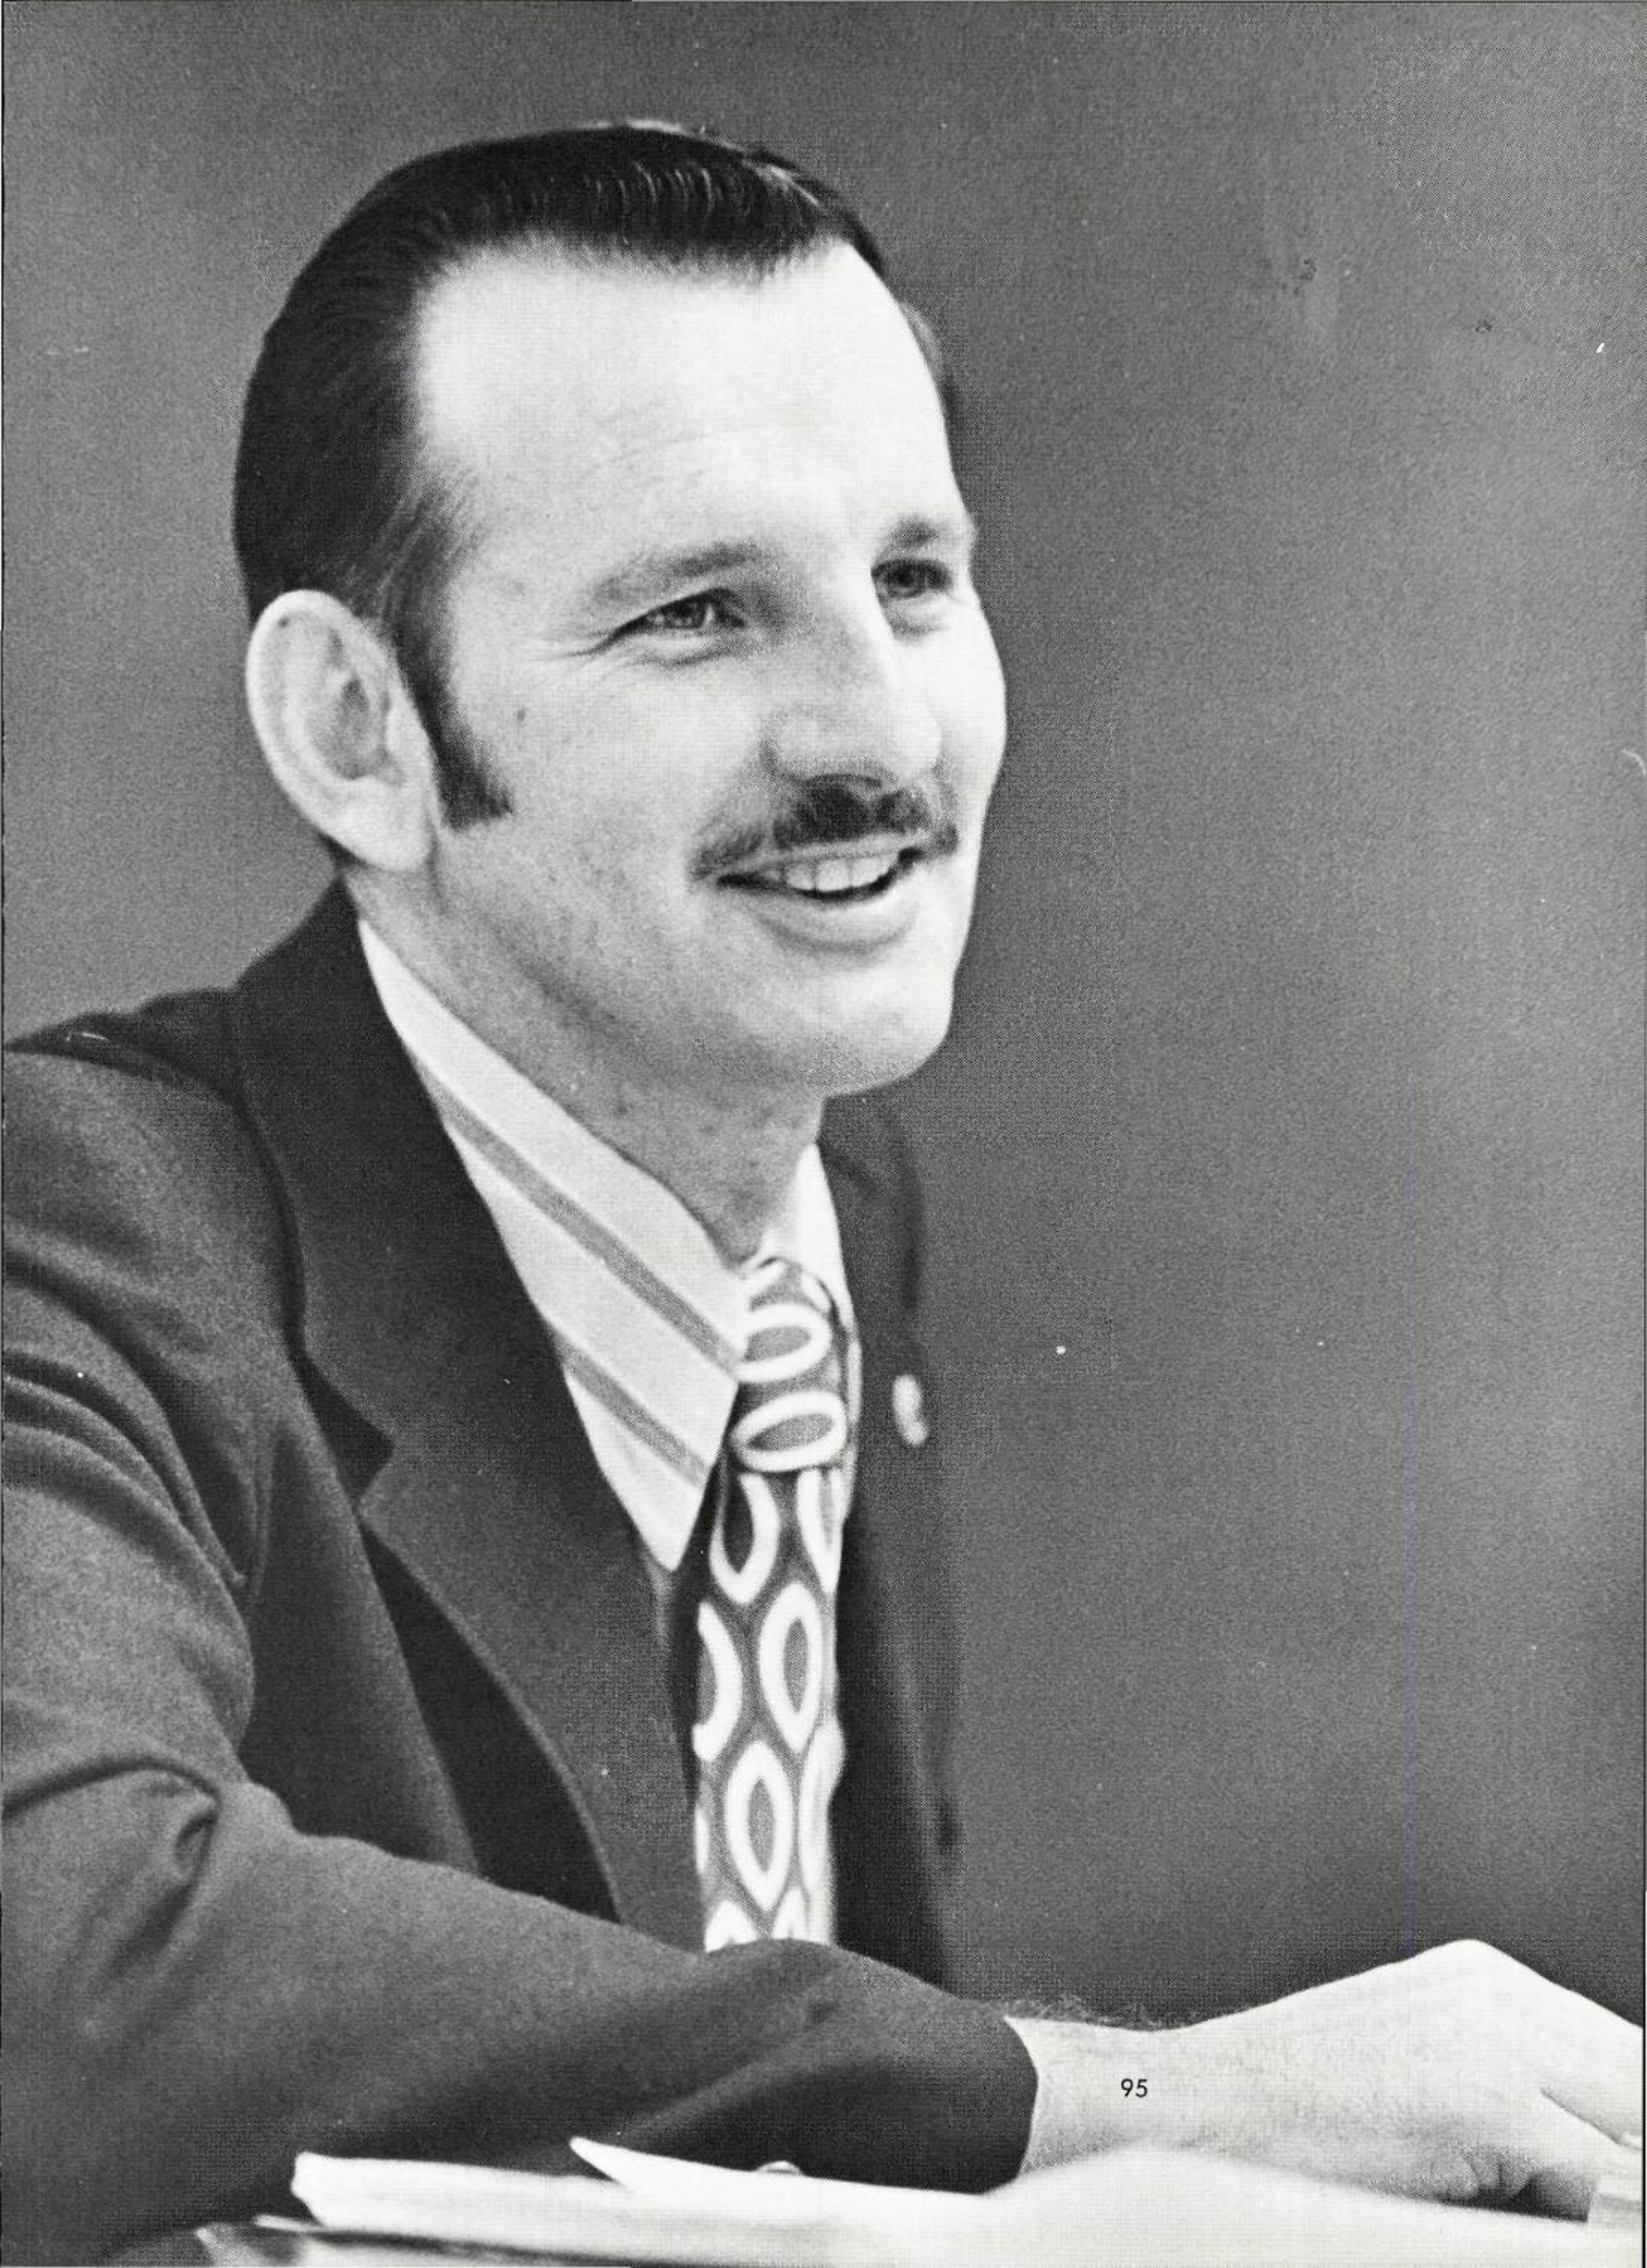
Leo Peterson

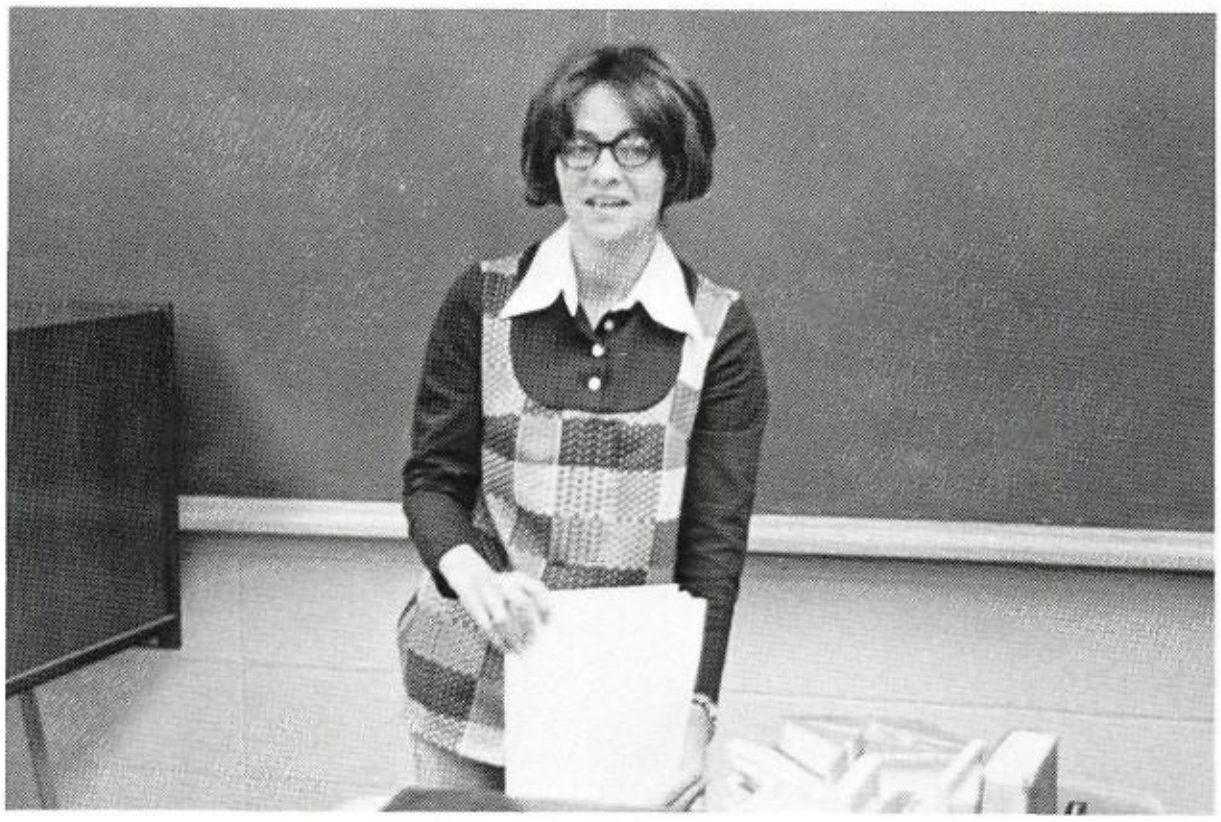


"O.K. you have that now before I erase the board?" inquires Mr. Robert Emary, Biology instructor.

"Ready, aim, fire...!" Mr. Ken Droegemueller appears to have a perfect shot of the next test he is stapling...we just hope the results look as good! Mr. Droegemueller is the Geometry I and II instructor and wrestling coach.







"Class, I finally got those tests corrected," quips Miss Karen Wert. The inquisitive look on Miss Karen Wert's face doesn't exactly make the test results look good. Miss Wert new to the Worthington Senior High, teaches Modern Literature I, American Literature and Advanced Composition.

English class arouses different emotions in students than it does in teachers. A teacher thinks of good books enriching experiences, and opening new avenues of thought. A sophomore thinks of finishing his speech in homeroom, reading poetry while watching television, writing a book report from the blurb on the jacket, and trying to get your visual aid speech on the bus.

A junior has nightmares about that term paper he thought he could zip through during the Christmas holidays, and trying to cram for the finals. For a senior, English beings to mind losing a stack of note cards in the March wind, trying to find time to get their Senior pictures taken and devotedly counting the days, hours and minutes until graduation.

The English department added two new teachers, Miss Karen Wert and Miss Elda Lovik. Six semester credits in English are required including three credits in Language I and IIand Survey of American Literature.

Along with English some students took German. This years foreign exchange student is Craig Behrends and coming to the United States is Ingrid Konrad. Returning from Germany is Cathy Hoffman who describes her trip as "I loved it!"

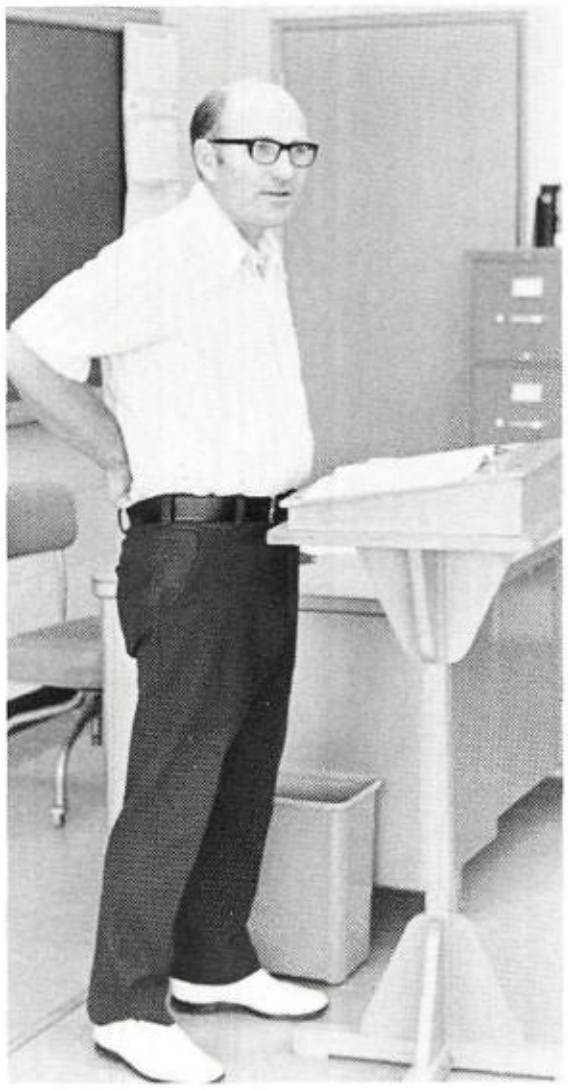
Two New Teachers Added to W.H.S. English Department

This past summer Suzanne Fenelle and five students, Shawn Knoche, Dawn Caldwell, Michele Naab, Lynn Clark, and Beth Bauman left for a tour of Europe. Leaving on June 22, 1972 and arriving home on August 4, 1972 Miss Fenelle and the group toured England, France, Switzerland, Austria, and Germany. Highlights of the trip included staying in a medievel castle, visiting former exchange student Maggie Hasel, and visiting relatives in Austria and Germany. Miss Fenelle said "it was a good experience for meeting young people from Europe."



"When I was a boy . . ." Relating to his class, Mr. Eldon Landis reminisces about his childhood days of a few years ago.

"Help, Help!" Scream three times, faint into his arms, gun fires twice, someone knocks impatiently on the door. Introduction to the Theater has brought out the ham and the grease paint of many students.

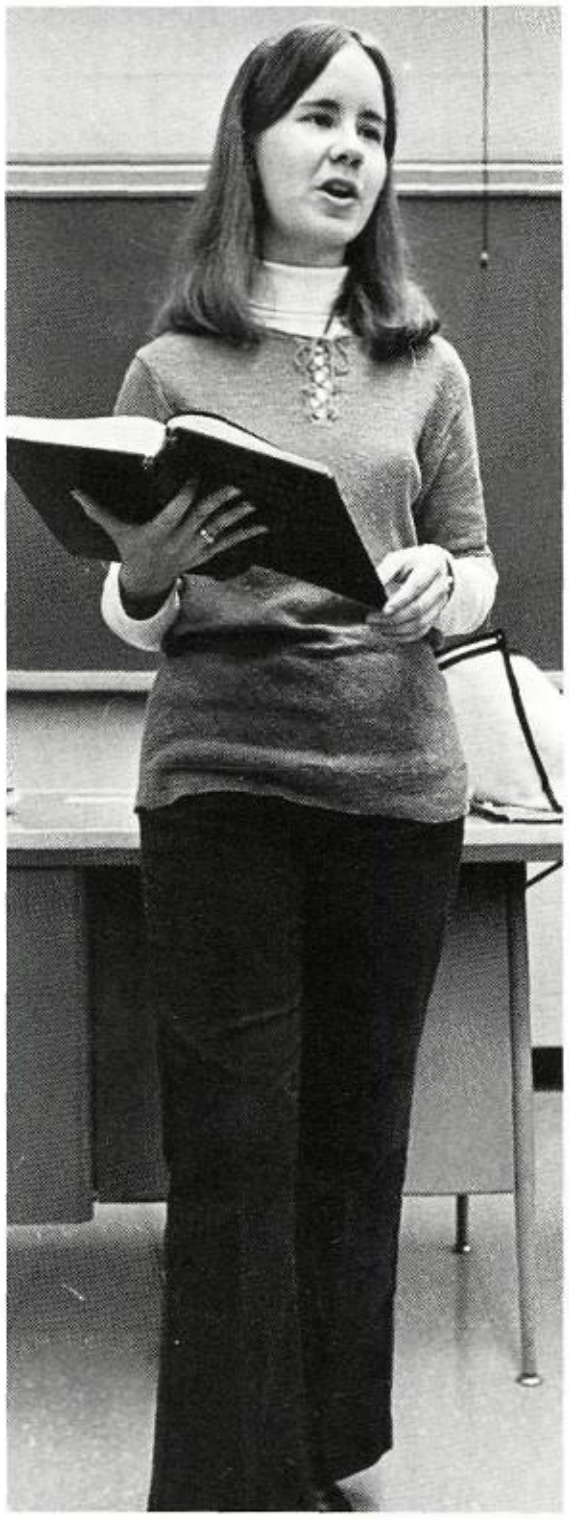
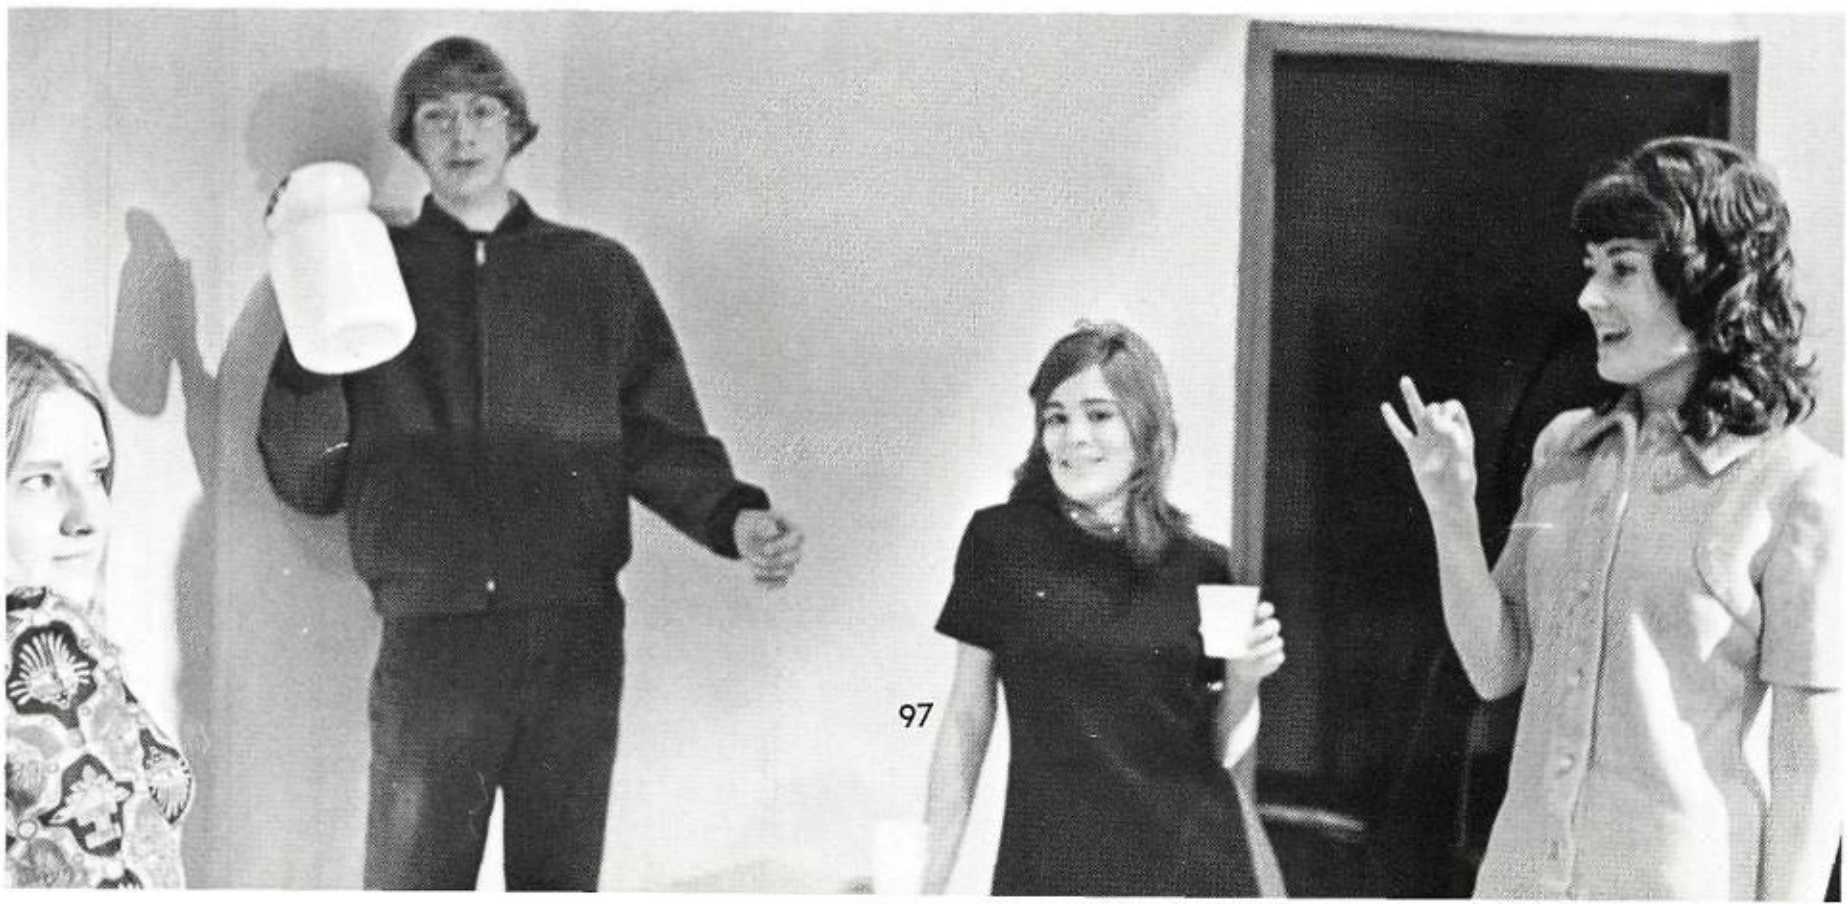
Miss Barbara Seeley aids three would-be Academey Award winners, Amy Holland, Allan Klumper, and Brenda Hoffman in some of the finer points in their stage positions.



"Hey, will you characters in the back by the sliding wall please settle down," pleads Miss Suzanne Fenelle as she reads from Poe.



A Variety of Challenges Exists in a Students Life Through Social Activities and Class Work

To qualify for a diploma in 1973 the student must earn twenty-four semester credits plus two semester credits in physical education. To qualify for a diploma in 1974 and each year thereafter the student must earn twenty-five semester credits plus two in physical education. These credits also include six semester credits in social science.

Any student who has completed the credit requirements for a high school diploma and has attended at least five semesters of school may waive attendence for the sixth semester (second semester of senior year). The approval of parents, counselors, administration and the Board of Education is necessary before such action will be taken.

This year Sophomores experienced a distinct change in social classes then what has been previously offered. Beginning the 1972-1973 school year all Sophomores are required to take Introduction to Social Studies. This class is taught by a staff of six social studies teachers. In the social science department a variety of twenty-six classes are offered, giving the students a wide range of choices.

"Did I tell you what happened at work today?" "I was just sitting there typing and . . ." Conversation of the vocational students never lacked for interest or color. Office Education and Distributive Education programs provided opportunities for the students to receive on-the-job training in the field of their choice.

In the Business Education Department, beginning typists learned the keyboard to dictated recordings with musical background. Typing to music not only increased the interest in the student's work, but it also aided in maintaining constant speed.

The Business Education Department at WHS offered a wide variety of courses designed to prepare the student for a future in the business world as well as elective subjects for students majoring in other academic areas. Offerings ranged from typing, shorthand, office machines, bookkeeping, accounting, to business math and business law.

The courses offered include: Health Occupations, Family Living I and II, Foods I and II, Clothing I and II, and Food Occupations.

Food Occupations is a course recommended for boys and girls interested in the planning and preparation of food. Work stations will provide experiences in such jobs as cook, waitresses and kitchen assistants.

Health Occupations is a course recommended to boys and girls interested in hospital work, jobs include: orderlys for the boys and nursing aids for the girls. Beginning nursing skills, body systems, and discussions with people in related health occupations are parts of this class.

Radio receiver and amplifer construction, furniture, over-hauling your automobile engine, surveying, building a garage, metal, and agriculture projects were only a few of the undertakings of the students. Amid the drawing boards, sawdust, grease, welders, and the hammers and saws, a few females invaded the formerly all male classes.

Each student worked dillegently to finish their various projects which they proudly displayed during Colorama.

Drivers Training Permits Sophmores to Frequent Drive-In Movies and Pizza Parlors

Sweating faces, misfit tennis shoes, dryer blowing, replacing make-up and only five minutes to get dressed resulted in graceful skills, toned-up muscles, and healthy bodies.

Physical Education Department this year added the course Advanced Physical Education. Taught by Mr. Leon Schimbeno and Mr. Donald Basche, the class was set up on a Co-Ed basis and was well liked by all the students who participated. Such skills as skeet shooting, volleyball, and weight lifting were explored.

Physical Education must be taken by all sophmores to fullfill the requirements for graduation. On the days the students weren't attending Phy-Ed classes they were in Health class which went along with the Physical Education requirement. Various sports included soccer, speedball, volleyball, tennis, football, archery and golf.

Under the direction of Mr. William Johnson, the drivers education program included 36 classroom hours and 7½ hours behind the wheel. The program, not yet a scheduled class, is held after school from 3:00 to 3:30. Each hour, two students are excused from their class and with Mr. Johnson, "take to the streets." This method may have an advantage over the summer program. It allows the student to drive in all types of weather.

Also included in the program was motorcycle education. This class consisted of 8 classroom hours and 6 hours on the cycle.

"Come on people, play your positions, call for that ball; youv'e got to MOVE!", quips Linda Cooper during a break in the action at a volleyball tournament. When the excitment gets high and the score too close, Miss Cooper's voice rises along with everything else. Before play resumes, she adds, "Get up there and ram it down their throats!"

Art I introduced the student to two-dimensional forms where as Art II introduced three-demensional forms with some painting. Elements of color, theory, drawing and graphics, paints, crafts and clay were explored. Prerequisite to any Advanced Art classes were Art I and Art II. Advanced Art classes included: Advanced Drawing and Graphics, Painting, Crafts, and Clay-Sculpture.

In all classes, subject matter consisted of realism to abstraction, fiqures, landscape, objective and non-objective.

Bach through the Beatles? Pep Band of the Year! Full String Orchestra! These and many more were various comments from the music department. Under the direction of Mr. Glenn Evenson the W.H.S. band was named Pep Band of the Year. This is an extremely high honor which Worthington has recieved four times, three of which were under the supervision of Mr. Glenn Evenson.

Another change was made in the Choir department this year. Under the supervision of Mr. David Blegen, Choir I, which consists of Juniors and Seniors, met second hour every day; and Choir II, mostly Sophmores with some Juniors and Seniors, met once a day during seventh hour. Mr. David Blegen, also instructor of the General Music class, teaches a wide variety of music ranging from 17th century classical to modern rock.

Rounding out the Music Department were the orchestra classes under the direction of Miss Beth Shipman. For a number of years, the Senior High School was void of an orchestra. In the past five years, Miss Shipman has developed a full string orchestra. A varied program in all areas of music is now available to all Worthington Senior High School students.

"All right, here we go. Wait a minute, who switched songs on me?" questions Choir instructor, mystro Mr. David Blegen. His face reflecting concentration and his arms vigorously marking the rhythm, David Blegen intensely drills the students.

Sophomores Climb to Obtain High Goals Set by W.H.S.

Getting acquainted with WHS and taking on new tasks as high school students were the first major steps taken by this year's sophomores.

Capable leaders: Marty Voss; president, Val Habeck; vice-president, Diane Habbena; secretary, Joan Franzen; treasurer, and Craig Bomgaars; student council representative, guided their fellow students through the first year of WHS.

Their first project was the annual magazine sale, which proved to be a big success with a total of $9,551.90. The five top salesmen were: Joe Kadinger, Danette Bowman, Paul Strom, Kathy Stubbe, and Joann Motl.

School spirit was kept strong under the leadership of the B-Squad cheerleaders: Barb Sellberg, Joann Motl, Carol Lenz, Sharon Strough, and Val Habeck. The traditional decorating of the goalposts for homecoming was a task taken care of by these girls.

Carol Lenz and Lee Strom represented the sophomore class as homecoming attendents for the royal court.

Mr. Melom, advisor for the sophomores, helped the class in planning their activities.

With one year behind them, the sophomores anticipate the years ahead and make plans to advance with new goals.

Leading the Junior class on the wheels to success are president Mark Marcotte, Vice-President Pat Graf, Secretary Mary Siestema, Treasure Nancy Roberts, and Student Council Representative Cathy Bishop. As newly elected officers, they quickly began their duties by holding meetings with the entire Junior class to encourage their fellow students to express their wishes concerning class activities.

Young Enthusiastic Students Lead the Junior Class to a Successful Year

With much anticipation and enthusiasm, the "Class of "74" entered into their second year at WHS.

In the fall, the juniors decided on their choice of class rings and elected homecoming attendants. Representing the juniors in the homecoming activities were Cynthia Eckerson and Michael Caldwell. Leading their class through their second year was Mark Marcotte, president; Pat Graf, vice-president; Mary Seitsma, secretary; Nancy Roberts, treasurer; and Cathy Bishop, student council representative.

Sports played a large role in their extra curricular activities. Many of the boys received their first letters and jackets for outstanding performance in sports. There were six Junior girls chosen for A-Squad cheerleading. They were: Dawn Eshelman, Pat Graf, Pam Hansberger, Shelley Luing, Marcia Opsata, and Dawn Yankee. Diane Palmer and JoAnn Plucker were picked as B-Squad wrestling cheerleaders.

When spring finally came, the juniors spent many long hours working hard to make the pre-em and the prom worth remembering. The junior class showed their class spirit by working energetically in the consession stand and coat check during the National JC Wrestling Tournament to raise money.

Miss Linda Cooper and Miss Suzanne Fenelle worked continously with the juniors to make their junior year one that they will long remember.

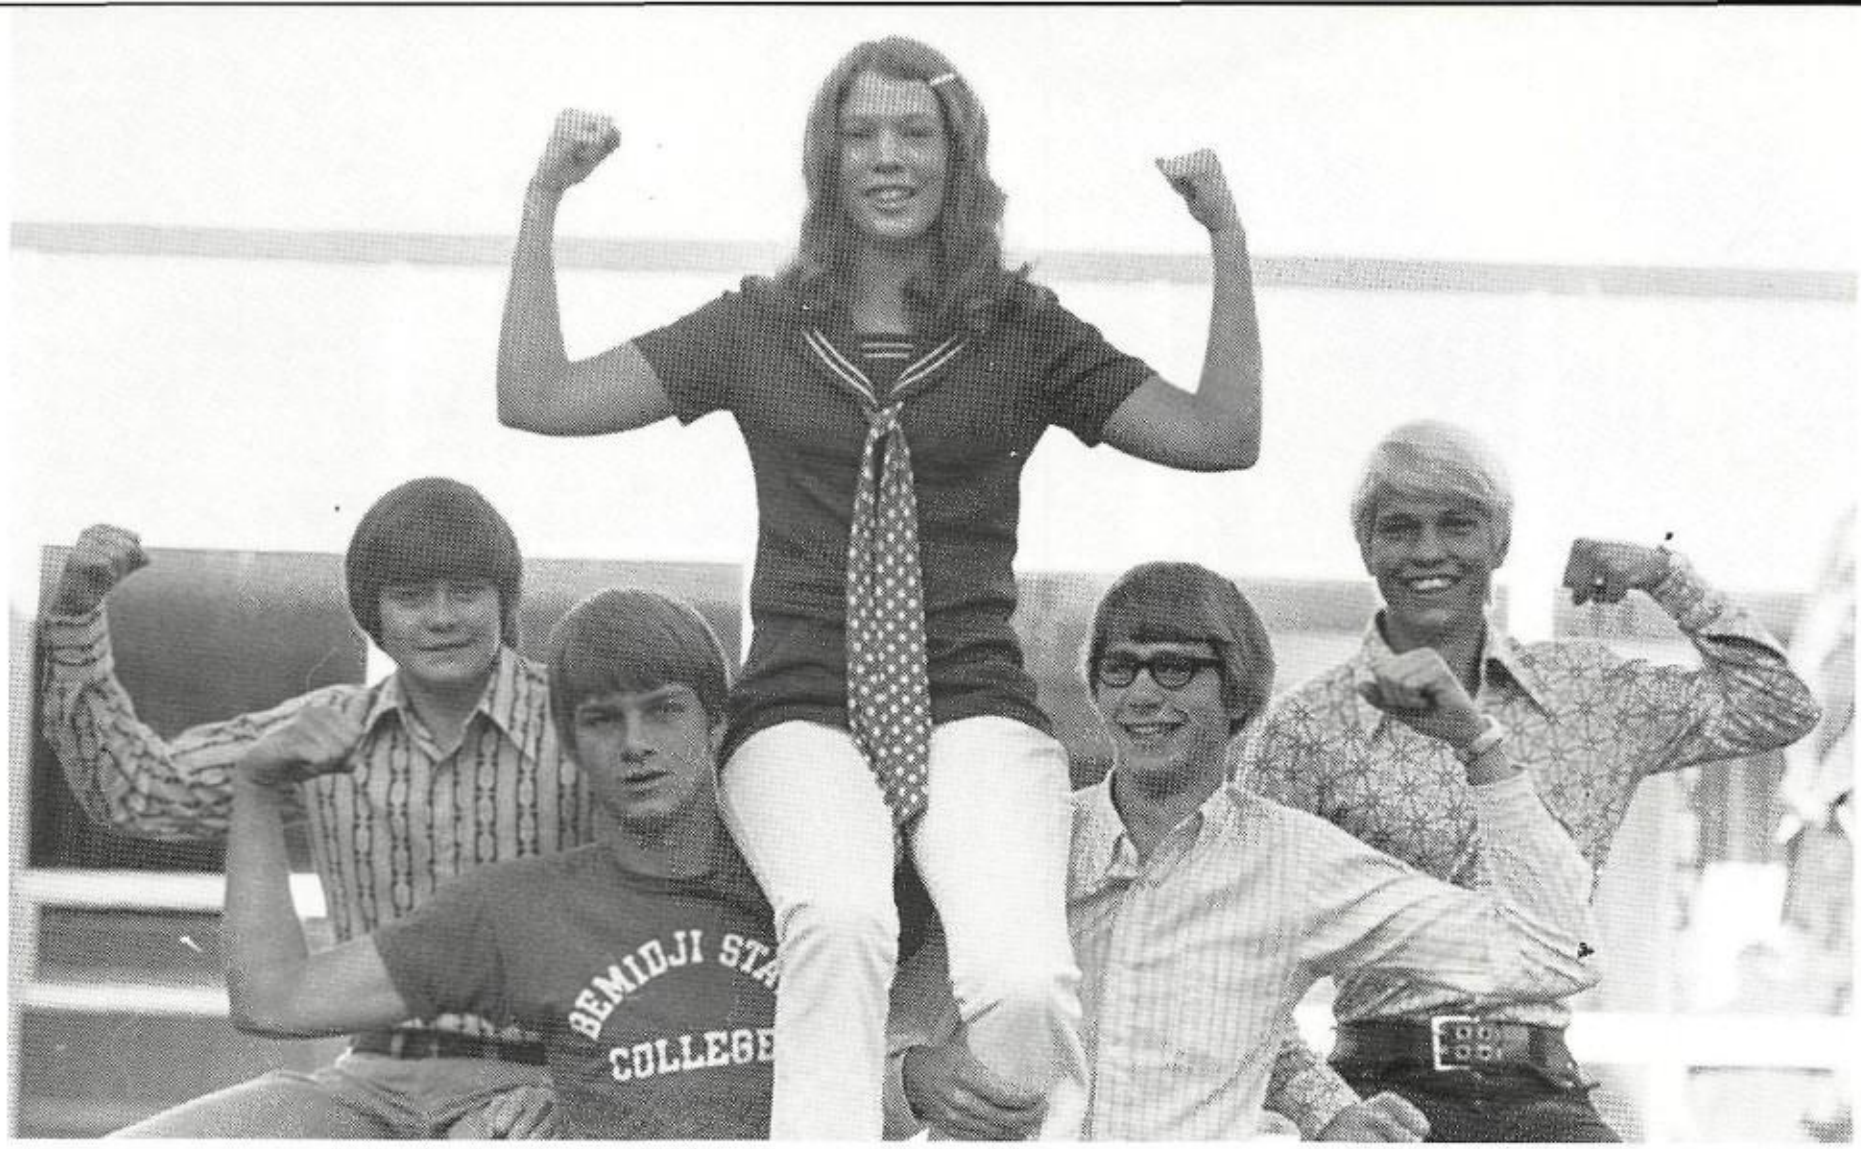
Students Strive to Obtain "Culture" Through Fine Arts Program.

"Now, Teddy you tell this young man to kindly get his paws off me" exclaims Madame LaSolda to her son Dr. Randloph.



The President of the class of '73 Guy Stromquist meets with his advisors for a conference to study the needs of a class. If Guy should suddenly contract a rare tropical disease, Vice President Bob Terhaar will be on hand to preside over meetings. Secretary Marianne Voss copys the minutes of the meeting while Treasurer Joel Krekleberg studies the financial situation. And of course the Student Council Representative, Rick Engberg, tactfully presents the wishes of his classmates before the officers. As class officers they promise this class will be one of the best graduating classes of WHS.

Class of '73 Recalls Apollo 17, Elections, and Civil Rights

Grade school halls and Jr. High mixers are all a memory of the past. The Seniors became mindful of the plans and problems that would face them as they strove to their independent future.

Their goals were achieved under the capable leader ship of President Guy Stromquist, assisted by Vice-President Bob Terhaar. Keeping the class records in order Marianne Voss requires an unlimited amount of will and determination. Treasure Joel Krekelberg keeps the money situation under hand and Rick Engberg willfully gives opinions of the Sr. Class as the student council representative.

Homecoming, a memorable event, was presided over by Queen Sue Rogers and King Joel Krekelberg. Assisting their Majesties were Jeff Sellberg and Jill Demuth; Kevin Bray and Michelle Naab; Marc Shanon and Michelle Habeck; Rick Van Roekel and Diane Synder; Craig Moss and Jana Parker.

Seniors participated in such sports as baseball, basketball, crosscountry, track, tennis, football, wrestling, and golf. They were encouraged in winning by the backing of enthusiastic fans.

Spring activities such as the New York-Washington D.C. trip, music concerts, the Junior-Senior Prom and Pre-em are just memories now.

On May 31st, 285 Seniors passed threw the ceremony of graduation, never to return to WHS as the student but as the alumni.

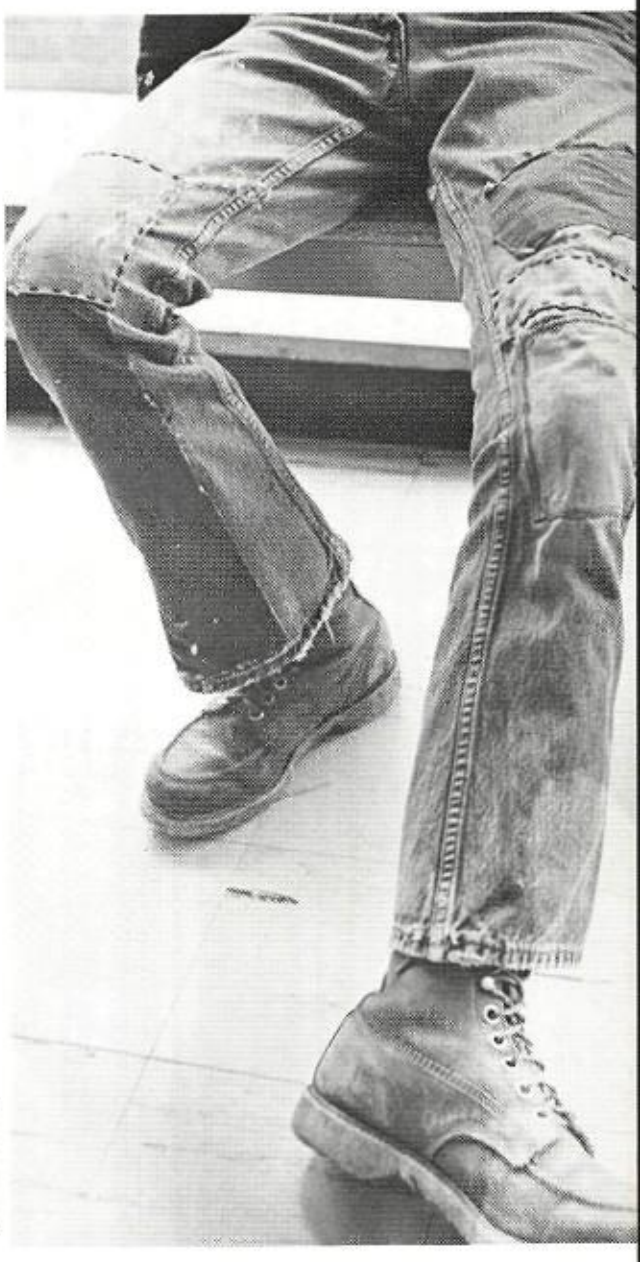
So Goes the Life
at Worthington
Senior High School



A final bang of lockers
A wave of the hand
And it's over for some,
Just another year.
For others,
The final year,
The closing of
High school doors,
For the opening of others.
A few memories of shared
Laughter, some lingering
Thoughts of sad
Moments.
All the hours and days
And weeks that added
Together to take up
This space;
This time from our lives
Until we start
Something new.

Bob,
you're really great.
You certainly added a lot to Sass section! Maybe by next year I'll learn to put my pants on
Be good, stay cool!
Barb

Bobby,
Tocreal: Moron who writes in Chinese. And who reads em and who makes a big deal about nothing. You are a police record. Conflict with a police record. You are also a big 5.-.
Steve von Wald (Eugee)

Bob,

Alias:

Sis,-

We haven't had a meeting on the boys can for such a long time I've almost forgotton what it looks like!! By the way, the house is fine, but you'll never know how fine 'til you find it! Sure wish we could have had some classes together.
You know at the play "The Diary of Ann Frank"?
At that tender, loving, moment when Peter kissed Ann, did you make that huge, loud smack?! Boy, was that ever funny. Have fun always and I'll see you this summer.

Your Sis
Joan

P.S. So Beth isn't your sis, but she's mine. For further details, contact Miss Cooper-our health teacher!

Bob-
I don't have much to say
since I'm only a freshman.
I hope to see you alot next year.
Try to stay out of trouble. Some day maybe my dad will like you better.

Daughter)

AMERICAN YEARBOOK

Bob,
It's been an exciting year, full of ups and downs, but let's only remember the ups! I don't know what I'd do without you by the way, how much do I owe you in gas money 2!! You'll get paid back some day (after July 24th) when I'm cruising around and I see you walking (you might get your licence taken away for speeding!) then I'll take you home! Ha! You just wait! If you get bored this summer, truck on out to the old "plantation" and pay this "former's daughter" a visit! Come out any time, even if you're not bored. And remember, if you ever have any problems let me know. But let's hope there won't be any need for that! You're my favorite brother (don't tell Lee!)! Let's have a family reunion this summer! Good luck now and forever, but especially in "The Summer of '73"! Take it easy. God bless you.
Smiles and Sunshine!
Love Ya Lots!
